DuPre's Attorneys Plan Federal Court Appeal

GEORGIA PRISON BOARD REFUSES CLEMENCY PLEA

"Peachtree Bandit" Hears
News of Action Just After Being Baptized by Episcopalian Ministers.

ALLEN GIVES GROUNDS FOR APPEAL TO U. S.

Attorney Claims That Georgia Supreme Court, in Effect, Reversed Decision of Lower Court.

A final attempt to save Frank DuPre from the gallows through habeas corpus proceedings in the federal courts is expected as the next development in the case following the action of the Georgia prison commission yesterday in refusing to recommend commutation to life imprisonment of the sentence of death which has been passed upon DuPre.

This report, which was in circulation in courthouse circles Friday, was confirmed by Attorney H. A. Allen, chief counsel for DuPre, who said that he had been requested to investigate the possibilities afforded in the case by a committee of women interested in DuPre, headed by Mrs. C. T. Osborne, 50 Pondera avenue, who will raise the funds necessary to continue the fight to save the life of the young Peachtree bandit, who startled Christmas shoppers and Atlantans generally when he shot to death Irbis C. Walker, Pinkerton detective, in the Nat Kaiser jewelry store, near Five Points.

Basis of Appeal.
The action of the Georgia supreme court in which the six justices were evenly divided on two points in issue, which automatically affirmed the verdict of the lower court through "operation of law" will be the basis of the appeals to be made by Attorney Allen in the new proceedings which it is planned to submit to Judge Samuel H. Sibley, of the federal district court of the northern district of Georgia.

Attorney Allen expressed the belief that the filing of the habeas corpus proceedings will automatically stay the sentence of execution which has been set for September 1, but he is prepared to petition Governor Hardwick on this point, provided Georgia's chief executive does not in the meantime commute the sentence of death to that of life imprisonment.

"No New Facts"—Stephens.
"Mr. Allen's statement does not contain any new facts other than those which served as the basis of his appeal to the state supreme court for a rehearing," said Ed A. Stephens, assistant solicitor, last night.

"This ruling of the Georgia supreme court," Mr. Stephens continued, "was based on past precedent of that body. They decided against the appeal for a rehearing without comment."

"We will contest any attempt made by DuPre's attorneys filed on habeas corpus or any other grounds which seek to nullify the verdict of the jury."

"It is my belief," he added, "that should Judge Sibley refuse to interfere in the case, Mr. Allen will be unable to get a hearing before the supreme court of the United States."

The proceedings to be instituted in the federal court will be based on the theory that the Georgia supreme court in effect reversed the lower court, and that through this same process ordered a new trial for DuPre. The petition will set out that inasmuch as the lower court, instead of granting a new trial to the petitioner, sentenced him to death, DuPre is being deprived of his life, without due process of law, should the sentence be carried into effect.

Cites Section 6218.
Attorney Allen bases his plea on section 6218 of the Georgia statutes, which, in 1845, created the state supreme court of three justices. The act, he stated, reading from the statute, provides that a majority of the justices shall decide all cases presented to the court. In 1895 the general assembly, he added, amended the act, which was later ratified at the polls, creating the positions of three additional justices and dividing the court into two sections.

When the new law was ratified, there were in effect two supreme courts of the state, except in case the three justices in either division failed to agree unanimously on any opinion or case. When such a situation arose, the entire court must decide the issue.

Fear of Pardon For DuPre Bars Clemency Appeal

Mrs. Walker Willing to Aid
If She Felt Sentence
Would Be Served.

BY WALTER CHAMBERS.
"If I felt certain that Frank DuPre would serve a life sentence I would ask that his sentence be commuted to life imprisonment," said Mrs. Irbis C. Walker, widow of the man whom DuPre killed in a Peachtree street jewelry robbery during the Christmas holidays of last year. Robbed of her husband, her daughter made an orphan by the bullets from DuPre's gun, Mrs. Walker, clad in mourning, sat on the veranda of the little home where she and the Pinkerton detective made their home, Friday and told her version of the crime, the penalty for which DuPre is now trying so desperately to escape.

But other people live in the home now. Mrs. Walker is their guest while her presence in Atlanta to see

URGE NEW LEADER FOR STATE G. O. P.

Attack on Philips' Record Made to Central Committee—Letter Also Sent to President.

Charging that J. L. Philips, chairman of the republican state central committee, has maintained a political autocracy in Georgia republican affairs for more than one year and had brought the party in Georgia into disrepute, a letter urging the election of a new chairman when the central committee meets next Tuesday, was mailed Friday night to every member of the central committee, following a meeting of a committee of Georgia republicans held Friday afternoon.

Attention was called to the fact that Philips is now under indictment on charges of defrauding the government out of $2,000,000, and that the department of justice is also investigating other alleged "sundry and various offenses."

For more than a year, it was charged in the letter, Chairman Philips has entirely ignored the state central committee, and permitted the party to disintegrate into various

EMORY TROLLEY CAR IS HELD UP

Five Young White Men, Masked With Handkerchiefs,
Rob Conductor and Motorman Saturday Morning.

In true western style, five unidentified white men, with handkerchiefs tied about their faces, and armed with revolvers, held up and robbed Conductor C. H. White and Motorman W. Smith on the Emory university street car line at 12:30 o'clock Saturday morning.

The holdup was staged at the end of the carline on the last trip made to that point. After covering the victims with revolvers and rifling their pockets of money and watches, the gunmen climbed into an automobile a short distance away and sped in the direction of Decatur, police were informed. No arrests have been made.

Conductor Willis, in describing the details of the robbery, stated he had just removed the trolley from the wire and started toward the opposite end of the car when he was surrounded by the five men and at the point of revolvers ordered to "throw up his hands." Two of the men then went to the other end of the car and covered Motorman Smith. No one but the motorman and conductor was on the street car at the time.

After removing the watches and about $25 in silver from the pockets of their victims, the robbers backed toward the automobile which was left with its motor running a short distance away.

In their hurry to rob the street car operators, the robbers overlooked a roll of currency in Conductor Willis' pocket amounting to approximately $50. The conductor's money-changer which contained about $15 in change and his purse, containing $12 in money belonging to him personally, was taken, he reported.

SORRY DIVORCED HUSBAND IS DEAD, DECLARES SLAYER

Mrs. Larry Avera, However, Asserts That She Had to Protect Her Own Life and That of Child.

WOMAN IS ARRESTED ON POOLE'S ORDERS

She Will Face Trial in Recorder Johnson's Court Saturday Morning for Death of Stephens.

"I was shocked and grieved to learn today that Millard had died, as I had been in hopes that he would recover. Of course, I hated to shoot him, but there was no other way out of it—I had to protect my own life and that of my little six-year-old daughter, Mildred Louise."

These were the words Friday of Mrs. Helen Avera, 27, of 278 Jones avenue, after her confinement in the matron's ward at police station, following the death in the Grady hospital of her former husband, Millard Stephens, whom she shot about noon on Sunday, July 9, while, she claims, he was battering down the door of her home and threatening her life and that of her daughter.

Stephens Has Backset.

Stephens, who was thought by physicians to be on the road to recovery, suffered a backset last Wednesday evening and gradually grew worse until his death, which occurred at 1 o'clock Friday morning. Acting Police Chief A. Lamar Poole immediately ordered Mrs. Avera rearrested and held without bond, pending the preliminary hearing before Recorder George E. Johnson which is set for 10 o'clock Saturday morning.

When Detective Cowan called at the law offices of Ellis B. Barrett, who is counsel for Mrs. Avera, to notify him that his client would be rearrested, Mr. Barrett sent for her and she came alone to his office, where she surrendered to the officer and went to police headquarters accompanied by her lawyer and her husband, Larry Avera.

Mrs. Avera stated that her little daughter was with her grandmother in LaGrange, but that she had sent a telegram requesting that she be brought to Atlanta at once.

Four Men to Be Tried.

Four men, said by officers to have accompanied Stephens to the home of his former wife on the day of the fatal shooting and whose trial under disorderly conduct charges have been postponed along with the case of Mrs. Avera, are also scheduled for a hearing before Recorder Johnson Saturday morning. They are Ed Nichols, 24, 33 Diamond street; Harry Che-

COAL CONFERENCE TALKS AGREEMENT

No Final Decision on Wage Contract Yet Reached at Cleveland
Parley, However.

Cleveland, Ohio, August 11.—(By the Associated Press.)—Any wage contract that may grow out of the conference here of soft coal operators and miners probably will continue in force until April 1, it was indicated today by discussion of the operators' and miners' joint scale committee on the general terms of an agreement. No final decision was reached, but the date for expiration of the contract was brought forward in considering what board might be created to arrange for future negotiations. Past contracts have run two years.

Operators declined to make public their proposal for further settlements, but it was understood they suggested arbitration and in this respect met with the refusal of the miners. Union leaders, however, were said to approve a fact-finding commission of advisory powers.

Farrington Objects.

Will Censors Allow Movie "Dream Kiss" To Last Two Minutes?

New York, August 11.—A kiss—a dream kiss lasting two eternal minutes with the fair young figure of Estelle Taylor clutched tight in the expert arms of a masculine vamp of the movies, may be brought to the attention of the official censors.

As a kiss, this practical bit of business in a new film version of Monte Cristo, is declared by persons of more or less experience to be a supreme achievement.

But exhibitors have their doubts. The kiss runs for 22 feet of film. The stage rendition of "the soul kiss" continued for somewhat less than a minute and there was almost hysterical criticism from reformers.

VICTORY IN HOUSE WON BY FRIENDS OF PEACH COUNTY

Notice Is Given, However, That a Reconsideration of Measure Will Be Sought Next Week.

ENABLING ACT PASSED BY VOTE OF 116 TO 43

Measure Will Permit
Georgia Counties to Use Money From General Funds to Pay Demonstration Agents.

After four years of hard fighting in the legislature to create Peach county a dramatic victory was won Friday afternoon when the house voted by a bare constitutional two-thirds majority to pass the measure which already had been passed in the senate. The bill obtained exactly the 338 votes necessary, 48 votes being cast against it. As the measure is a constitutional amendment it must be submitted to the people in the November general election for ratification. If ratified Peach county will be created out of parts of Houston and Macon counties and Fort Valley will be the county seat.

Sharing honors with the Peach county bill, was the enabling act permitting counties of Georgia to use money from the general fund to pay salaries of county demonstration agents and home economic agents working under the Smith-Lever and Smith-Hughes federal extension laws, which passed in the afternoon session by a vote of 116 to 43. The passage of this bill will remedy the old law so as to conform to recent supreme court decisions and will permit counties to employ the demonstration and home economic agents. Due to the recent decisions counties were not permitted to use money from the general fund to match the federal money used to pay part of the salaries of these agents. Passage of the bill Friday will enable the counties to carry on progressive agricultural extension programs without being hampered for lack of available funds.

Peach County Battle.
The Peach county battle reached almost white heat during the Friday session and the vote was as close as possible for the bill to pass. After the vote was taken leaders supporting the new county movement made a rapid tabulation and found they had only 134 votes and they needed 138 to win. The leaders called for a verification of the roll call and in the meantime hurried to the lobbies to bring in members who did not vote. Five members were brought in and three voted for the county and two against it. This carried the vote in favor of the county up to 137. Representative Beckham, of Dougherty, who had not voted, then cast his ballot for the bill giving it the one vote needed to win. Notice was given that a reconsideration of the measure would be sought.

This is the first fight in the legislature to develop a real thrill and it was bitterly contested. Representative Emmet Houser, of Houston county, was the leader of the new county forces while Representative Robinson, of Macon, and Representative Dykes, of Dooly, led the opposition.

Under the leadership of Mr. Dykes and Mr. Robinson the opposition to the bill gained surprising strength and the supporters rallied all their forces for the final battle. Representative Dykes explained that he came from a neighboring county but he felt it his duty to oppose the bill as he was familiar with all details of the situation.

PRESIDENT GIVEN POWER TO CHANGE TARIFF SCHEDULES

Senate Adopts Amendment Authorizing Tariff Commission to Probe Costs of Production.

PRESIDENTIAL POWER LIMITED AS TO TIME

Will Terminate July 1, 1924—Senate Stays in Session to Near Midnight on Friday.

Washington, August 11.—The United States senate, for the first time in history, has given the president power to control tariff measures.

Under an amendment to the tariff bill introduced by Senator Frelinghuysen and adopted by the senate late Friday, the rule was laid down whereby the tariff commission becomes a judicial body with authority to investigate the difference between cost of production here and abroad. By this amendment the president has the power to regulate the rule under which the tariff commission can operate. In accordance with President Harding's letter Friday to Senator McCumber, chairman of the senate finance committee and author of the tariff bill, he will proclaim the authority of the present tariff commission to recommend rates to congress.

The senate, in laying down the process by which the tariff commission shall determine the cost of production and the cost of conversion, made clear that the difference in wage scales here and abroad is the only basis upon which a tariff can be fixed. However, Frelinghuysen's first intention—that of authorizing the commission to recommend rates directly to congress without presidential proclamation—was defeated by a vote of 18 to 34.

The president's aim for authority to impose a flexible tariff was somewhat modified by the senate, in that the authority granted him under the amendment terminates July 1, 1924. This limitation clause was introduced by Senator Bursum, republican, New Mexico.

Although it was said the Frelinghuysen amendment as finally passed paves the way for making the tariff commission a body similar in powers to the interstate commerce commission, the appropriation of $1,000,000 proposed by Frelinghuysen to accomplish this was defeated, together with a further amendment increasing the salaries of the tariff commissioners from $7,500 to $10,000 a year.

The senate recessed close to midnight, after having labored under a unanimous consent agreement to dispose of the presidential empowering clause in the tariff bill.

Cares of State Are Laid Aside On Trip to Sea

Georgia Legislators Leave on Special Southern for Brunswick.

BY PAUL STEVENSON.
En route, Legislative Special Train to Brunswick: Laying aside all cares of state which have hung more or less heavily on their hands for the last 45 days, the members of the Georgia general assembly boarded a special train over the Southern railway to make an official inspection of the port of Brunswick and to enjoy an elaborate program of entertainment provided for them by the citizens of that progressive city.

The members are making the trip as the guests of the city of Brunswick. They were asked to visit this port after taking a trip to the port of Savannah two weeks ago to investigate the advantages of that city as a site for the construction of a state-owned terminal. The Brunswick men told the members of the legislature Friday night they were taking them to see not only the best port in Georgia for a state-owned terminal, but the best port on the south Atlantic seaboard.

2,000 Lone Ones Await Surcease In Cupid's Court

Unmated Souls to Draw
"Trial Sweethearts" From Lottery of Love.

Hammon, N. J., August 11.—Two thousand lonely men and women, young, middle-aged and old, but uniformly romantic and hopeful, will be "drawn" as trial sweethearts when the first session of Cupid's court is held here next Wednesday in Hammon's very best theatre, the Palace picture house. The lonely ones are scattered throughout the country, from Hammon to Fullerton, Cal., and small cities in Oregon.

The love lottery is the direct result of a local widower's deep-drawn sack of cigarettes to a customer, that life wouldn't be so lonely if all the widows and widowers were "put into a hat" and mated again. There are an unusual proportion of widows and widowers in Hammon. Therefore, it was proposed that all be invited to

RAIL COMMISSION POWERS EXTENDED BY SENATE VOTE

Under Provisions of Measure Name Will Be Changed to Georgia Public Service Commission.

WATER POWER BILL MEETS WITH DEFEAT

House Amendment, Re- ducing Number of Mem- bers of Rail Board From Five to Three, Is Beaten.

Following one of the sharpest debates of the session the senate Friday afternoon passed the house bill known as the Brantley bill, changing the name of the Georgia railroad commission to the Georgia public service commission and extending its powers.

At the morning session the principal features were defeat of the water power bill backed by the Municipal League of Georgia, vesting municipalities with the right to acquire and operate their own public utilities; passage of a bill by Senator Ellis providing for a uniform county commissioners' law, not compulsory, but optional with the counties; and defeat of the Golucke-Clay bill limiting the tax levying power of all counties in the state to 15 mills.

The public service commission bill passed by the vote of 32 to 7. Twenty-two votes were cast for the water power measure and 22 against. It fell short 12 votes of the necessary two-thirds constitutional majority.

Amendment Defeated.
A house amendment reducing the number of the railroad commission from five members to three was defeated in the senate. This action will necessitate sending the Brantley bill back to the house for action again.

Senator Ed Wohlwendler delivered a caustic attack on the measure and the railroad commission. "The public isn't getting a thing out of that body," he declared. "Murphy Chandler got ashamed of himself and resigned. As for the number on the commission, I think five dumb fools are better than three."

The bill provides for public counsel to represent the commission and the public's interest at all hearings, his appointment to come from the governor.

One of its provisions bitterly fought and strongly defended in turn requires the public utilities of the state to pay the expenses of the commission, and directs the comptroller-general to assess a pro rata levy on the utilities up to a total sum of $70,000 per annum.

SENATE RELUCTANT ON INTERVENTION IN STRIKE TANGLE

Senators See Whole Sit-

MINE STRIKE IS NEAR END, THEY BELIEVE

But Situation on Railroads Not So Optimistic.
Depends on "Big Four" Action.

Washington, August 11.—(By Constitution Leased Wire.)—There is an undercurrent of optimism in official circles of the capitol over prospects of settling the coal strike. Several government officials indicated during the day that an end to the mine dispute was near.

While no definite information would be given out—for fear that negotiations might be embarrassed—their optimistic predictions are based upon reports of government observers from the department of labor sent to Cleveland to watch the conference between operators and miners, it is understood.

Conditions in the railroad strike appear to be unimproved, however, and it is capitol gossip that republican leaders of congress are preparing bills on the subject. Members reported to have such legislation under consideration have been careful to guard its detail until the lower house meets next Tuesday.

"Watchful Waiting."
Senate leaders believe that there is a possibility of the rail strike wearing itself out in a few days unless the brotherhoods should decide to call a sympathetic strike. For this reason all plans are being guarded. On the whole the attitude of the senate may be described as one of "watchful waiting." They are hopeful that the Cleveland negotiations between coal operators and miners will lend a hopeful color to the general strike situation.

Realizing that the whole industrial dispute is loaded with dynamite, senators are very hopeful that the president will settle the problem without their interference. They believe also that the public does not sufficiently realize the national calamity that might arise from a continuation of the strike. Upon the possibility of all this, they think the public should be informed in order to justify any immediate drastic action.

Given a public realization of the fact that it may be starved by a complete tie-up of the transportation

STRIKERS QUIZZED ON HILL ASSAULT

District Attorney Says That He Believes Small Gang Responsible for Several Recent Outrages.

More than a dozen railroad strikers were interrogated Friday by Clint W. Hager, United States district attorney, in an effort to determine the identity of six alleged railway strikers who, on Thursday morning, attacked and severely assaulted William S. Hill, Jr., a student at Georgia Tech, who had been employed until several days ago in the Western & Atlantic shops in Inman yard.

Mr. Hager declined to reveal the results of his investigation, which is being made in conjunction with officers in the United States' marshal's office, who are probing the outbreak in an effort to determine whether any of the parties involved are guilty of contempt of the injunction order issued several weeks ago by Federal Judge Samuel H. Sibley, against strikers and railroad operatives. The order applies to both the strikers and railway operatives and forbids violence from either side being used while the strike is in progress.

Same Men Responsible.

The district attorney admitted, however, that he was convinced the

COMMITTEE TO WAIT ON PRESIDENT TODAY

New York Meeting Develops Long Debate Between Opposing Groups of Railroad Executives.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
New York, August 11.—Executive heads of 148 American railways tonight conditionally accepted President Harding's second proposal for settlement of the railroad shop strike.

This unofficial announcement was made shortly after 7 o'clock following a prolonged conference which was surrounded by secrecy.

Officially, it was merely stated a committee representing virtually all railroads would wait on President Harding tomorrow afternoon with a reply to his program drafted by a committee appointed by the Association of Railroad Executives and approved by the body as a whole.

Conditions which went into the acceptance according to unofficial sources, were:

Reported Conditions.
First—That the president's request that the strikers be taken back should be interpreted that as many strikers should be re-hired as should be needed by the roads to bring their shop forces to normal.

Second—That such strikers should be taken back unconditionally and that the railroad labor board later should determine whether they were to regain their seniority privileges.

President Harding had suggested that all strikers be given back their old jobs and that the question of seniority be left to the railroad labor board.

Statement Issued.
Although a formal statement to the press issued after the meeting by T. Dewitt Cuyler, chairman of the Association of Railway Executives, set forth that "the action of the railway executives cannot be made public until it has been submitted to the president," and Robert S. Binkerd, assistant to Mr. Cuyler, declined to state what had transpired at today's session, this statement nevertheless was obtained from Mr. Binkerd.

"The reply to President Harding was not looked upon by the executives as a compromise on the question of seniority, it is however, a reply which we trust will be received by both the president and the country."

Legally, we believe, our stand will be beyond reproach. It is neither antagonistic to the president's proposal, nor to the stand announced in the executives' reply of August 1 to the first proposal submitted by Mr. Harding, in which they expressed a determination to stand by their pledges to loyal employees and to new men who had been hired to take the places of strikers."

First Proposal.

President Harding's first proposal was three-horned.

The first two conditions—that the wage decisions of the railroad labor board must be recognized by both sides and that lawsuits arising from the strike must be dismissed for settlement by the board—were accepted by the executives.

The third—that strikers be re-in-

EPISCOPAL SUMMER SCHOOL AT SUWANEE

Sewanee, Tenn., August 11.—Several hundred lay workers and clergy of the Episcopal church in the south and southeast had arrived here today to attend the annual summer school of the denomination. New methods in Sunday school work, as outlined in "The Christian Nurture Series," will take up much of the time of those attending the meetings, which will continue through August 22. Lectures on the study of the Bible, social welfare and missionary work also were on the schedule of activities for the two weeks' session. Attending the conference are representatives from all parts of "The Province of Sewanee," comprised of the states of Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Georgia and North and South Carolina.

RAIL CHIEFS ACCEPT HARDING PEACE PLAN

stated that his seniority privileges were being denied, and that he was being treated as a common laborer. He said that he had been on the ground that he had been made to work for the railroad and was being treated as a common laborer.

Preliminary Talk. A preliminary conference attended by representatives of eastern lines ushered in today's major assemblage. Although no formal announcement was made concerning matters discussed at the preliminary conference, it was generally understood that the eastern executives formulated the fight to the finish policy on seniority which they later introduced at the general meeting.

After all the executives had gone into session behind closed doors, a flurry was caused by the sudden appearance in the hall of H. E. Fiske, president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, a heavy holder of rail securities. The report rapidly spread that he had arrived with an important message from financial interests. After his presence had been announced at the conference, he remained in the ante-room where he was joined by Mr. Cuyler. It later was announced that his name had not been mentioned in the conference and from Mr. Fiske's office came the denial that his presence outside the conference chamber had any connection with the rail strike.

No Surprise. Early in today's session there developed a "group" nature in the discussions which were entirely lacking in the element of surprise and near consternation which featured reception of the president's first plan on August 1.

Then the rail men came prepared for the unexpected, and reading of the proposal, with its unexpected terms, promptly demoralized the strikers. Today, however, the executives arrived with individual or group plans of action laid out, which they began to put into words immediately after Chairman Cuyler took the gavel. For two hours the heads of the various groups struggled to crystallize sentiment in favor of a reply which would either outright reject or as emphatically the Harding plan. For rejection were the eastern chiefs, standing solidly back of the policy first expounded by the union at the conference.

West and South Together. Behind him stood representatives of the New York Central, the Pennsylvania, the Erie and other of the more powerful roads operating out of Chicago and north of the bituminous mining districts.

The western and southern delegates as became evident hours before, favored an unqualified acceptance of the president's plan. President Felton, of the Chicago Great Western and Judge Lovett of the Union Pacific were their spokesmen.

The first group contended they had already defeated the purposes of the strike; that their shops were fully manned and their surplus equipment sufficient to go through any crisis in safety.

Condition Critical. The second group declared their condition far more critical and urged that they be permitted to take back their men on the basis of the president's suggestion, to save them from complete demoralization at the heavy period of traffic of the year.

After two hours of debate in which it became apparent that unanimous action on any reply could not be attempted, a committee of seven was appointed to draw up two replies to be submitted to the vote of the whole conference. Hours later the committee announced it had drafted two replies. The first was based on the basis of the eastern men, and constituted a rejection of the president's plan. It failed to receive the necessary vote and was discarded.

The second reply, which was ultimately approved by what Mr. Binkerd termed "a substantial majority," contained the condition of acceptance which was entrusted to a committee of eight to transmit to Mr. Harding at 4:30 p. m. tomorrow.

Without further discussion the conference was declared adjourned.

UNIONS ADJOURN WITHOUT DECISION.

Washington, August 11.—(By the Associated Press.)—After several hours' conference behind closed doors, chief officials of all railroad labor organizations adjourned tonight until 9 a. m. tomorrow, declaring themselves still unable to answer President Harding's final strike settlement offer to the strikers and still unable to make public the policy which unions not on strike intend to follow. Warren S. Stone, grand chief of the engineers' brotherhood, said at the meeting, announced, however, that both these expressions would be forth-coming tomorrow. Officials of the seven unions on strike will reply to the president for themselves, he said, while the remainder intended to join in a declaration of their position to the public.

Mr. Stone, in commenting on the various walkouts of trainmen now progressing, said he had reports from 50 terminals "where our men are facing conditions just like those we added that 'there might be walkouts' at such terminals.

Administration View.

At the white house, the administration's view of these walkouts, attributed by the union leaders to the presence of armed guards, was said to be that no strike which had as a purpose the preventing of the government from authorizing agencies of law and order to protect life and property would have countenance or effect.

President Harding. It was said, however, that he did not intend to put the government in a threatening position in the industrial situation.

Though R. M. Jewell, chairman of the group of strike leaders, as well as Mr. Stone, insisted that only "general discussions had marked the union session, subordinate officials, particularly of the train service brotherhoods, were continuously in and out of the gathering.

Same Instructions. Mr. Stone said he was in receipt today of reports from strike centers and that the instructions to train service men were the same—that they should not continue to work where their lives were in danger.

"One-half of the locomotives running today are doing so in violation of the safety provisions of law, anyway," he declared. "This strikers' strike has not been broken anywhere."

While the formal announcement of their conclusion was thus withheld, officers of the striking shopmen were unvarying in holding out the impression that the president's offer—the heart of which is the proposal to leave the seniority status of returning strikers to the railroad labor force—would meet rejection. The purpose of the gathering was merely to consider what the policy of the other unions would be, they said.

"Fight of All." "Now that it's come down to a question of seniority retention," said Martin F. Ryan, head of the carmen's brotherhood, "it isn't the shopmen's fight. It's the fight of every labor organization in the railroad service."

The only brotherhood chief official missing today was W. G. Lee, of the trainmen. His place was taken by W. N. Doak, a vice president. Chairman Hooper, of the railroad labor board, did not attend the session, though it was understood he had conferred with some participants before hand. Other than this, the government was not represented. President Harding was closely occupied with issues relating to the industrial situation and Chairman Cummings, of the senate interstate commerce committee, and Senator Pomerene, democrat, Ohio, one of its members, were among his callers. Senator Pomerene said he saw no present need for emergency legislation.

Senator Cummings was said to have been preparation of a tentative draft of emergency legislation under which the government would be authorized to take over the roads, and to take such other action as deemed necessary but it was emphasized such legislation should not be interpreted as indicating a program along these lines had been adopted, or that its necessity was now foreseen.

TRAINS STALLED AT DESERT POINTS.

Los Angeles, Cal., August 11.—Twelve transcontinental trains on the Santa Fe railroad were stalled at desert points at noon today, following the refusal of trainmen to proceed, according to a list given out at the general information office. There were no available figures of the number of passengers involved, but railroad men said that if the travel was "average" it would run from 2,500 to 2,500.

WALKOUT THREAT AT MEMPHIS.

Memphis, Tenn., August 11.—Union trainmen and switchmen employed by the Illinois Central railroad here today demanded that all armed guards and special agents be withdrawn from the Memphis yards of the company. Railroad officials on the information, it was stated, that failure to comply would be a signal for a walkout.

S. A. L. GUARDS REACH AMERICUS.

Americus, Ga., August 11.—(Special.)—First evidence of the railroad strike here was seen last night when fifteen men imported as guards by the Seaboard Air Line railroad reached Americus. The men were taken before Sheriff Harvey following their arrival, and upon satisfactory evidence of good character, being furnished, they were sworn in as special deputy sheriffs. They will be paid by the railroad company and stationed in the vicinity of the Americus shops. No strikebreakers have yet been brought here by the Seaboard.

"BIG FOUR" STRIKE SPREADING FAST.

BY ALEXANDER JONES, United News Staff Correspondent. Chicago, August 11.—Strikes by "Big Four" brotherhood trainmen spread through middle and far west states Friday like prairie fire and both passenger and freight transportation was seriously crippled on a number of important railroads.

Western divisions of the Santa Fe railroad were blocked by strikes to such an extent that eastbound transcontinental service was either cancelled or delayed. Striking trainmen and switchmen on the Elgin, Joliet and Eastern refused to move their camp from the shop districts, and the walkout continued with the important Gary industrial district seriously affected.

Walkout Authorized.

Officials of the brotherhoods here received telegrams from Cleveland headquarters authorizing walkouts on divisions of the Illinois Central, Rock Island and Chicago and Northwestern railroads where guards or soldiers patrol shop districts. Firemen on the Chicago and Northwestern at Des Moines refused to take out locomotives they claimed were in bad order. The Missouri Pacific railroad cancelled 50 trains and brotherhood men on this road were threatening to go out on the Moberly, Mo., division. Firemen and engineers on the Louisville and Nashville railroad at Evansville, Ind., were reported out, with every indication that this disturbance would lead to a strike on the Illinois Central and the Eastern Illinois roads in that district.

Traffic Tied Up.

Following the walkout on the Santa Fe at Needles, Cal., and Barstow, Cal., other trainmen on divisions east of California on this road walked out, tying up transcontinental passenger and freight traffic to such an extent that the railroad issued a notice declaring tickets would be sold and freight accepted subject to delay only.

When switchmen and firemen did not report for work at Ogden, Utah, on the Southern Pacific, this division was temporarily tied up. Further spread of the wholesale walkouts is expected in the northwest, where union leaders have received notice, according to reports, to use their own judgment in calling out men where shop districts are patrolled by armed guards or equipment is in bad order.

PROGRAM IS GIVEN FOR CIVIC LEAGUE

Miss Jerome Sings, Miss Finney Plays and Orchestras Perform From Station WGM.

After one of the best 6 o'clock programs to be given by Warner's Seven Aces, The Atlanta Constitution orchestra, station WGM, at 9 o'clock last night entertained members of the Ansley Park Civic League with a specially arranged program. Constitution apparatus at the meeting of the league in Ansley Park received the concert from The Constitution.

Following the concert a unanimous vote of thanks was given The Constitution by the league for the excellent program.

On the program at 9 were Miss Marie Jerome, soprano; Miss Harriet Finney, pianist; and Bowling's orchestra. The soprano and pianist gave their concert from The Constitution building, while the orchestra music was transmitted to Station WGM from Roseland, corner of Peachtree and Main streets, and was broadcast during a dance there.

Classical Numbers.
The program by Miss Finney and Miss Jerome was of a classical nature. In addition to her piano solos, Miss Finney played the piano accompaniments for Miss Jerome's vocal numbers. The piano solos were used between Miss Jerome's songs.

Miss Jerome sang "Sing On" by Denza; "To Spring" by Grieg; "Snow Flakes" by Cowan; and "The Maunty Song" by Harriet Ware.
The numbers heard from Station WGM and played by Bowling's orchestra at Roseland were "You're Only a Baby," "Bow Wow Blues," "Mamma Loves Papa," "I've Got My Habits On," "Lonesome Mama Blues" and "I'm Gonna Buy a One-Val Ticket to a Little One-Horse Town."

Five numbers of the best jazz music available and one saxophone solo were featured at 6 o'clock when Station WGM presented Warner's Seven Aces, The Atlanta Constitution orchestra.

Gaining Popularity.
As the regular orchestra to be heard between 6 and 7 o'clock in the evening from Station WGM, the Aces are being more warmly received every evening.

Interposed with the program by the Aces were The Constitution features, including selections from "Just From Georgia," by Frank L. Stanton; "Bills of New York Life," by O. O. McIntyre; and selections from "The Persipope," by Robert Quillen. News and markets were also presented at 6 o'clock.

The jazz numbers played at 6 by Warner's Seven Aces, The Atlanta Constitution orchestra, were "Lonesome Mama Blues," "Do It Again," "Georgia," "If You Know," and "Stumbling." The saxophone solo on the Aces' program was given by J. E. Pritchett, Jr. He played "Boy of Mine."

ANSWERS TO 9 QUESTIONS

Radio Editor: Although I have the best of parts in my set it refuses to work. I have gone over the wiring diagram several times, but can find no fault. Is my hook-up correct? I have heard code very faintly several times, but have not been able to catch the least bit of a concert. Does the hearing of code indicate that my set is working? How is it that I hear code and not music?
J. S.
The fault is not in your set, but in your hook-up. The only reason that you received code and not music was on account of what is known as forced oscillations. Disconnect the wire that is now shunting your coil. Now connect the lower end of your coil winding to a good ground, such as a water pipe, and you will probably get the concert waves. The reason that you heard the code and not the music was because the code signals were much stronger

FIFTEEN MINUTES OF RADIO EACH DAY

BY EDWARD N. DAVIS
Formerly Technical Electrical Expert for United States Government

LESSON NO. 118. Points to Remember.

Remember that:
Windings for tuning coils and loose couplers should not be heavily coated with shellac or varnish, since this practice increases the distributed capacity of the coil thereby reducing the efficiency of the receiver. A very thin layer only should be used, which will be sufficient to hold the wires in place.

The distributed capacity of coils for receiving purposes can be reduced by winding a thread between the turns at the same time that the wire is wound on the tubing. This spaces the turns and is well worth the extra work involved in construction since the circuit will tune sharper.

Poor connections in receiving circuits are the cause of much "rattling" and other annoying noises, in the telephone receivers. All connections should be either soldered or made secure under crews or binding posts.

LESSON NO. 119. Resistance.

Resistance is the opposition to the flow of current offered by an electrical circuit or device. Resistance is the factor which limits the current flow in such devices as electric irons, soldering irons, audio tube filaments, electric lights and thousands of other kinds of electrical devices and instruments.

While the resistance of a substance is generally assumed to be a more or less fixed quantity dependent upon its peculiar electrical characteristics, materials which undergo a wide change in temperature, sometimes change in resistance. For example, the resistance of a pair of telephones for radio work is usually around 2,000 ohms and is not variable, or rather does not change since there is no great change in temperature of the windings. An electric light bulb filament or an audio filament varies greatly in temperature, according to the current flowing through it.

There are in general two kinds of electric light filaments, metal and carbon. It is found that the carbon filament lamps draw more current when hot than while cold, while the metal filament lamps draw more current when cold than when hot. This property of some metals of changing resistance with changes in temperature due to changes in current may be expressed another way. If the voltage across such a filament is raised the current flow may be the same due to an increase in resistance caused by a higher temperature of the filament. This property usually holds over a very limited range as the filament will melt if the temperature is increased beyond a certain point.

This property described in the foregoing paragraph is applied to ballast lamps which are used for keeping the current constant in a circuit, although the voltage varies within certain limits. Such a resistor, as this does not obey Ohm's law, which states that if the voltage across the circuit is increased the current will likewise be increased, but this law assumes that the resistance is fixed, while in the case of ballast lamps the resistance increases with increases in temperature. Certain receiving sets employ vacuum tubes for detectors and amplifiers with ballast lamps instead of rheostats to keep the filament-current constant. Recently observed, tests on ballast lamps produced a current of 6 amperes from a storage battery with voltage varying from 2 to 6 volts.

Resistance is the only opposition offered to the flow of current in a direct current circuit with the exception of circuits containing motors or similar devices where the current is limited by the generator effect produced in the rotating armature. In alternating current circuits, however, not only the ohmic resistance (sometimes called the resistance), but also the reactance due to inductance and capacity affect the current flow. The total opposition to the current flow is also measured in ohms, but is called the impedance. For example, radio receivers or telephones are often marked "D. C. 2,000 ohms" and "A. C. 24,000 ohms," the A. C. resistance being measured at the usual audio frequencies used in radio work.

and were able to break through, while the music was not able to. Radio Editor: Why cannot the Radiotron tubes be burned at a dull red heat, the same as the Western Electric tubes? Would this not lengthen their life?
G. E. J.
The Radiotrons will not give off a sufficient supply of electrons unless they are burned at almost full brilliancy. They would not operate at all satisfactorily if burned at a dull red. The Western tubes have a coated filament that gives a greater electron flow with less heat. They will last longer if burned at a dull red, but in this state they are worthless.

ORCHESTRA MUSIC TO BE FEATURED

Warner's Seven Aces, Constitution Orchestra, and Dominoes to Play for Station WGM.

Orchestra music will be given radio listeners for one hour and a half tonight during the two broadcasting periods of Station WGM, The Atlanta Constitution.

Opening the day's broadcasting at 6 o'clock Warner's Seven Aces, The Atlanta Constitution orchestra, will give a program—one similar to those which all this week have been delighting radio audiences in a dozen or more states. Jazz will be the keynote of the music by the Aces, although there is one violin solo by Ralph Bennett in which Dreda's composition, "Souvenir," will be played. The Aces are gaining rapidly in popularity among radio enthusiasts in Atlanta and Georgia, and cards have been received from many states by Station WGM reporting the success of the Aces by radio.

With the program of six numbers by the Aces at the 6 o'clock period will be regular Constitution features, such as "Bits of New York Life," by O. O. McIntyre; "The Persipope," by Robert Quillen; and selections from "Just From Georgia," by Frank L. Stanton.

A feature of the 6 o'clock broadcast will be an address by James F. Watson, president of the Atlanta School of Oratory and Expression, on the subject, "Removing the Handicaps of Mind, Voice and Body for Creative Functioning."

At 9 o'clock the Atlanta Dominoes will host over a dance at Roseland, Peachtree and Main streets, while they are holding thousands of listeners on WGM around receiving sets. Two numbers by the Dominoes, an excellent orchestra, will be broadcast by The Constitution just as the music is being played for a dance given at Roseland.

ST. LOUIS AND IOWA TOWNS REPORT WGM

St. Louis, Mo., and Calamus, Iowa, are the latest cities to report reception of Station WGM's radio concert. With the letters from Calamus and St. Louis came another letter from Memphis, Tenn., reporting excellent reception of The Constitution's radio service there. Reports have been received before, however, from Memphis and other cities.

The letter from Chaney Hazen, Calamus, Iowa, reads as follows: "While listening on my radio set last night just before 10 o'clock, central standard time, I heard music and singing broadcast from your station. I am located about 700 miles air line from Atlanta and was surprised to hear music at Atlanta station as I have a detector tube only, with no amplification."

W. C. Burton, who reported receiving Station WGM in St. Louis, writes as follows: "We heard your radio concert last Saturday evening at my residence in Webster Grove, a suburb of St. Louis. We received your concert very clearly and enjoyed the program as sent out by Station WGM."

From Memphis came the following card written by William J. Shampert: "I heard the radio concert August 8 between 9 and 10 p. m. You were loud and clear. I have only a one-tube home made receiving set of the spider web coil type."

GREAT INCREASE IN PUBLIC SCHOOL ATTENDANCE SEEN

With an increase of approximately 15 per cent in the enrollment for the first time in all grades in the public schools of Atlanta, the registration books for guaranteed seats closed at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Just more than 1,200 pupils being enrolled on the last day, it was reported by assistants in the office of Superintendent Willis A. Sutton, in the city hall.

Last year's figures, which showed approximately 40,000 in high and grammar schools, is expected to be surpassed by several thousand, it was stated.

Exact figures of this year's enrollment will not be available for several days. A corps of assistants in the superintendent's office have been engaged for several days and will continue until the term opens, September 11, to allocate the students to schools most convenient for them.

Screen Door Burglary.

The home of G. W. Scott, 91 Rawlins street, was entered and a large quantity of clothing stolen Thursday night. City Detectives H. W. Armstrong and M. A. Horshy, who investigated the robbery discovered that entrance had been gained through a window opening on the back porch, the screen being torn off and the window prized open. No clue as to the identity of the thieves was found.

"Eczema broke out on my face and chest. It first started in pimples and itched and burned so that I could not sleep at times. My face was so badly disfigured that I was ashamed to meet my friends. The trouble lasted about two years. I tried many remedies, but failed to get a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment which helped me so I purchased more, and after using three boxes of Cuticura Ointment, together with the Cuticura Soap, I was healed." ## INDICT FIVE MEN IN LYNCHING CASE

Prominent Macon Men Named by Bibb Jury in the Death of "Cocky" Glover.

Macon, Ga., August 11.—(Special.) Indictments charging rioting, assembling for the purpose of lynching, carrying concealed weapons and weapons without a license, were returned this afternoon by the Bibb county grand jury in extraordinary session against five Macon men in connection with the lynching of John "Cocky" Glover, negro slayer of Deputy Sheriff Walter C. Byrd. The lynching occurred in Monroe county near Holton on August 1.

Arrests made up to 7 o'clock tonight were Herbert Block, manager of the Hotel Duquesne, rioting, and assembling for the purpose of lynching and carrying a pistol concealed and without a license. H. L. McSwain, president of the Southern Co-operative Fire Insurance company, and loan agent, rioting and assembling for the purpose of lynching, and Guy Jones, city fireman, carrying weapons and carrying a pistol without a license. Block made bond assessed at $3,000.

The indictments were returned at the conclusion of the fourth day's session of the grand jury this afternoon. They were signed by W. H. M. Weaver, foreman of the grand jury, Judge Henry A. Mathews, of the superior court, immediately after the warrants for the arrest of the parties. The court also held that the defendants be held under bond of $1,000 in each case August 1.

The indictments charging rioting set out that Block and three other men did unlawfully and with force and arms, together with other persons unknown to the grand jury, "take from William Brannan, a deputy sheriff, and from J. L. Mullally, a deputy sheriff, a prisoner, John Glover, alias Cocky Glover, for the purpose of mobbing and lynching Glover, and did in a violent and tumultuous manner, after taking Glover in charge, transport him across the line between Monroe and Bibb counties for the purpose of mobbing, lynching and killing John Glover."

A true bill also was returned against Block for carrying a concealed weapon and one for carrying a pistol without a license. Another man, who was not indicted for rioting and assembling for the purpose of lynching, is charged with carrying a concealed weapon and a weapon without a license.

Shortly after the true bills were handed down the grand jury took a recess until Monday morning. Judge Mathews announced this afternoon that until the grand jury adjourned its investigation, which will probably be Tuesday or Wednesday, he would not consider calling a special term of court to try the men indicted.

Detectives Claim Railroad Officers Barred Arrests

That Special Agent W. D. Scott, of the Georgia railroad, and special officers under him not only refused to co-operate with, but actually obstructed the efforts of City Detectives L. F. Carter, W. C. Bullard and J. L. Whitley to apprehend six negro strikebreakers employed by the railroad who are alleged to have taken part in the fight last Saturday afternoon at Edgewood avenue and Waddell street, during which Floyd A. Smith, 60, of 344 Ormond street was fatally wounded, was the direct charge made by the officers Friday afternoon.

This charge against Special Officer Scott followed the binding over of Marion Richardson, (alias Slim), who lives in the basement at 90 Central place, to the superior court Friday morning under a charge of murder. The six negroes were the direct shots which caused the death of Mr. Smith.

Negro Wounded.
Allen Pierce, negro strikebreaker, who received a flesh wound in his side during the fight, was held under a $300 bond for trial in the state courts on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon. Porter Horton, negro, former employee of the railroad who is now on strike, and who was accused by Pierce as being the one who shot him, was discharged by Recorder Johnson.

The six negroes the officers were after are Will Jones, Collin White, Lomde Joe, Matthew Wood, E. Holm and Dave Cason. All are said to have been implicated in the shooting and to have carried pistols.

The names of the six negroes were furnished the detectives, they claim, by Marion Richardson in the confession he is alleged to have signed, in which he admitted shooting Mr. Smith.

Richardson, in his alleged confession, claims to have shot Mr. Smith in self defense, as the latter was advancing upon him with a big stick, with which he had just been struck a severe blow on the arm. Richardson claims that at this point Porter Horton shot Allen Pierce and then the shooting became general.

A portion of Richardson's alleged confession was corroborated by J. E. Bright before Recorder Johnson Wednesday afternoon at the trial of Sam Booker, negro striker, who was bound over to the state court under a charge of carrying a concealed weapon.

Booker was taken in charge by officers during the melee and carried to the police station, while Richardson, it is charged, was allowed to go free. This fact is admitted by Special Agent Scott, it is said. Richardson was corroborated by J. E. Bright before Recorder Johnson shortly after the shooting Saturday afternoon where he had a talk with the officers.

Richardson was arrested in the afternoon by City Detectives Ed M. Cason and W. P. McGee, after he was identified by Mr. Bright and others as the one who shot Mr. Smith. He came to police station in company with Mr. Scott to testify against Booker, the negro striker, who was tried for carrying a concealed weapon.

This was the third trial Richardson made to police station in company with Mr. Scott, according to the statements of both. The first time was after the shooting and the third Monday afternoon when Booker's trial was postponed.

Burglars Overlook Cash Placed in Box On Drug Store Floor

Burglars who at 2 o'clock Friday morning broke into the Halcyon Drug store, at 740 Highland avenue, rifled the empty cash register and overlooked about $100, the day's receipts, which the proprietor, C. Leves, had carefully placed in an ordinary looking cigar box and left in plain view on the floor, behind the counter.

The money was wrapped in a soiled piece of paper. It was evidently mistaken for trash by the intruders, who contented themselves by taking a large box of pocket knives, many packages of cigarettes and fine cigars, tobacco and confectionery.

After helping themselves bountifully at the cigar and tobacco counter, the thieves paid a visit to the soda fountain, making a light lunch of several pies, cakes and chocolate candy bars.

Two other burglaries were reported to the detectives Friday morning. Fred Henderson, of 333 Auburn avenue, reported the loss of $18 in money and a coat, while $22 and a pistol was reported stolen from C. Garber, 289 Peters street.

Negro "Y" Outing.

The colored branch of the Y. M. C. A. is planning many varied attractions for the outing at Lakewood on August 28. Already several bands have been consulted to furnish the music, and the races of various kinds will be the center of attraction. On Tuesday evening, August 15, the physical department will give a swimming exhibition in the pool to which the public is invited.

CARES OF STATE ARE LAID ASIDE

the party in the Terminal station in Atlanta and the members will be guests of the city of Brunswick until the train returns at 8 o'clock Monday morning.

On their arrival in Brunswick at 7:30 o'clock Saturday morning, the visitors will be taken to their hotels and will then be driven over the city in Automobiles. A boat ride and inspection tour of the harbor of Brunswick will follow. Then a variety of industrial section and a boat ride to the open sea. Dinner will be served on the boat, and in the afternoon a visit will be paid the port of St. Marys. Mr. Warde and Malcolm McKinnon, member of the Brunswick city commission, have been in Atlanta several days completing arrangements for the trip. Representative James Voelke, of Camden county, will serve as host at a dinner to be tendered the party at St. Marys.

Sunday morning the members will be taken to various churches in Brunswick, and the afternoon will be devoted to various excursions to popular resorts near the city. Governor Hardwick will arrive in Brunswick Sunday morning to join the party.

Express Pleasure.
Senator Aikin, of the fourth district, and Representative Mann, of Glynn, expressed much pleasure Friday night over the fact that they had succeeded at last in bringing the members of the legislature to the port of Brunswick.

"We feel confident that after the members of this assembly see with their own eyes the wonderful advantages possessed by the port of Brunswick they will take no action looking to the construction of a state-owned port without giving the Brunswick Chamber a fair and just hearing. We have no fight to make against anybody else, but we have a powerful and convincing fight to make in behalf of ourselves and we are going to make it. We are confident that we will get a fair and square deal from the members of this assembly and from the people of the state-at-large, and that no hasty action will be taken on such a subject as building a state port which has such vast potentialities for the general good of the entire state," Mr. Mann declared.

The Brunswick people have launched an advertising campaign in behalf of their port and will carry advertisements in Atlanta newspapers Sunday setting forth their position over the controversy developed since the state harbor commission returned a report recommending that Savannah be selected as the official state port of Georgia.

Slight Fire Damage.
Elberton, Ga., August 11.—(Special.)—Fire early this morning damaged the office of Dr. R. F. Moore, on the third floor of the First National bank building, virtually destroying the office fixtures and furniture, but doing little damage to the building. The loss, which is several hundred dollars, is partially covered by insurance. A crossed electric wire is supposed to have been the cause.

Even The Best Of Oil "Wears Out" And Should Be Replaced

Thin Veils of Oil prevent Friction between the pistons and Cylinder walls - and are continuously under great pressure

In the Explosion Chamber the Heat Varies From 200 to 1000 Degrees Fahrenheit

The cross section of an automobile cylinder shown here will help you to visualize the all-important part that lubrication plays in your motor, and also to appreciate the terrific pressure and extreme heat under which motor oil must perform its duties.

Learn two lessons from this picture - first the necessity for proper lubrication, and next, the advisability of changing this oil, having it flushed out and completely replaced every few hundred miles according to the directions furnished you by the manufacturer of your car.

Stanocola Polarine will make your motor run smoother and your costs run lower. Follow the chart of recommendations which your dealer has on display.

100 CHILDREN TO BE GUESTS OF KIWANIANS

Nearly 100 children from the Home for the Friendless will be guests of the Kiwanis club at a barbecue at Lakewood park Saturday afternoon. It was announced Friday by club officials. Matrons of the home also will be present.

The Kiwanis club outing is an annual event, and tickets to the barbecue have found a ready sale among the members. The barbecue will be served at 2 o'clock, and the remainder of the afternoon will be devoted to games, dancing and sports.

BOY GIVEN PASTEUR TREATMENT FOR BITE

Burford Stevens, 14, of Egan Park, who was given the pasteur treatment after he had been bitten by a mad dog Friday, was reported to be resting comfortably last night. Several crows were also bitten by the dog before it was killed. The section of Egan Park near the Mabel Manufacturing company was thrown into a panic for a while.

PUT IT TO A VOTE!

A vast majority of the people of Georgia earnestly hope the senate will follow the example of the house and pass the biennial session bill.

All constitutional amendments that are not submitted at this session must necessarily go over until the fall elections of 1924, hence the importance of giving as much preference to this class of legislation, if meritorious, as possible at this time.

The fact, that the state would thus save an annual expenditure of $125,000, the approximate cost of holding a fifty-day session of the assembly, is an important one, particularly as Georgia is confronting the most serious deficit on January 1st that the state has known in a generation; and yet that economy alone is inconsequential as compared to the financial, industrial and business unrest that is occasioned by annual legislative sessions.

While it costs the state each year more money than it appropriates to the maintenance of the University or the Georgia School of Technology to hold an annual session, it costs the people of Georgia, by reason of such a session, untold millions of dollars through a lack of stability in the essential laws that affect business, in the investment of capital and the planting of new industries or broadening the scope of old industries.

The annual session creates the opportunity—the vehicle—for more laws than the state needs.

The Georgia code is full of dead-letter laws today, and yet it is torn up every year from cover to cover, and the Georgia councillor must actually study all the time in order to keep informed as to the statutes.
The state would be infinitely better off with less laws and more enforcement—more construction and less legislative destruction.

The swinging tax pendulum, the rights of corporations, the restrictions and privileges of utilities, the shifting rates for occupations and privileges—all of these matters and many others—are agitated from year to year, incurring heavy expense to large and potential groups, and leaving them usually in an uneasy and wholly disturbed and unsatisfactory status.

The annual session puts a premium upon professional lobbying.
One set of lobbyists will inject proposed legislation opposing legislation proposed and inaugurated by another set so that the issue, whatever it may be, can be made professionally profitable to them in two ways.

By the same token the annual session creates and nourishes the professional representative who makes it his sole business and living to get a seat in the assembly each year.

The professional legislator is usually the agitator who keeps alive legislative issues that are profitable to the professional lobbyist. The reasons are apparent. And business suffers.

The annual session is a great disturbance of the peace and tranquility of a state and people, and this assembly will do the state an incalculable service if it will submit to the people the biennial session bill.

There are less than a half dozen states in the union holding to annual sessions.

For the next few years, certainly—during a period of post-war and post-depression reconstruction—Georgia should be spared the general unrest that an annual session of the assembly creates and fosters.

ROMANCE AD NAUSEAM!

At last comes the announcement that Harold F. McCormick, multimillionaire harvester king, and Mrs.
Alexander Smith Cochran, formerly Mrs. Walska, opera singer, have been married, in Paris.

This will gratify the public—not so much because there is any widespread approval of the match, but because it will put an end to a topic of meddlesome insipid newspaper "society" gossip that has become sickening to the sensibilities of the American public.

For months there has been hardly an issue of a newspaper in this country that has not contained allusion in one form or another to some feature or angle of the marital affairs of the McCormick family.

This has been going on day after day, month by month, ad nauseam!
The newspaper-reading public has had the McCormick household's private love affairs paraded before its eyes and dined into its ears week by week until everybody has grown sick and tired of it.

It is not that the people generally have any particular interest in the subject, but because it has made what the correspondents call "good copy," due solely to the extreme wealth of some of the personages involved.

If Harold McCormick wanted to marry a "song bird," it certainly was his privilege to do so; and it was the business of nobody but those immediately concerned.

And if Mathilde McCormick wants to take a Swiss riding master "for better or for worse," that's her business—and his. Certainly it is no legitimate concern to the public.

Just why a certain element of American society demands upon occasion to be "fed" upon the flabby, mawkish details of such purely personal and private affairs suggests one of the enigmas of human nature—a trait of human character that is hard to understand.

With the Harold McCormick-Edith (Rockefeller) McCormick divorce scandal a thing of the past, and with the Harold McCormick-Mrs.
Walska wedding now out of the way, let us hope that when the Mathilde McCormick-Max Oser romance reaches the altar stage a welcome long rest from this sort of thing.

PROOF OF THE PUDDING.

"Doesn't this explain why some merchants go broke and others make money?" asks The Colquitt (Ga.) Sun, in quoting the following statement made by the advertising manager of one of the largest mail order houses in the country:

"We have a bureau whose duty is to read each week the country newspapers from all over the country. There is not a paper of any consequence in our trade territory that our bureau does not get. This bureau looks over these papers and when we find a town where the merchants are not advertising in the local paper we immediately flood that territory with our literature. It always brings results far in excess of the same effort in territory where the local merchants use their local papers."

Unquestionably, as The Colquitt
Sun points out, failure to advertise in the home town paper is often a contributing cause to business failure. Failure comes, chiefly, through lack of trade, or sufficient business, to meet expenses, and the non-advertiser suffers from diminished trade, no matter how limited his consuming community may be.

The big mail order houses know this, and they direct their activities principally to those communities where the local merchants do the least advertising in their home papers.

It is not unusual for a cash order to be sent to some northern mail order house for an article which could be bought, even for less money, in one of the stores in the "home town" if the customer only knew about it. And how is he going to know about it unless the merchant proclaims it in the home paper, which is usually carefully read by every live prospective customer in the country?

"Talk to 'em through the home paper!" That's the only way to stop the steady flow of money to the mail order centers, and to keep the business where it belongs—at home.

More advertising of the right sort means more business, and more business means fewer failures and greater prosperity in any community.

cotton's up or down?
Is he bothered 'bout the country, or

Is he worried 'bout the winter, is he sighin' for the May?
No! A fellow picks the banjo, an he dances life away!

Does he shrink from all the tollin' in the white blaze of the sun,
In the hot sand of the furrow where the larks before him run?
No! He never finds him tired; when the sun has left the day
A fellow picks the banjo, an' he dances life away!

III.

No problem of the races in the hotel or the dome;
He knows his face is blacker than the chimney-back at home, But evermore it's smilin', and he's happy night and day.
For a fellow picks the banjo, an' he dances life away!

THE ANGEL-THIEF

Time is a thief who leaves his tools behind him;
He comes by night, he vanishes at dawn;
We track his footsteps, but we never find him;
Strong locks are broken, massive bolts are drawn.

And all around are left the bars and borers,
The splitting wedges and the prying keys.
Such aids as serve the soft-shod vault-explorers
To crack, wrench open, rifle as they please.

Ah, these are tools which Heaven merely lends;
When gathering rust has clenched
our shackles fast,
Time is the angel-thief that nature sends us
To break the cramping fetters of our past.

Poor as we may for treasures he has taken,
More precious are those implements forsaken.
Found in the wreck his ruthless hands have left.

Some lever that a casket's hinge has broken, Pries off a bolt and lo! our souls are free;
Each year some Open Sesame is spoken,
And every decade drops its mas-terkey.

So as from year to year we count
our treasure,
Our losses lessen, and larger look our gains;
Time's wrong repaid in more than even measure—
We lose our jewels, but we break our chains.

If you want to keep the money at home and help build prosperity in your town and county; if you want to do more business and grow yourself in strength and wealth—Advertise regularly in your home town paper.

You'll find it an investment and not an expense—an investment that will pay you a sure, often, an abundant return.

Double Taxation Bill May Come Up On Monday

BY JAMES A. HOLLOMON

The proposed constitutional amendment bill revising Georgia's tax system, as it passed the house on Tuesday, will become one of the live issues during the closing hours of the senate next week.

It provides distinctively and unequivocally for a dual system of state, or general taxation; that is, for ad valorem or property tax of four mills—four-tenths of one percent—and also for an income tax on net incomes over and above nominal exemptions, of 3 per cent. It imposes both combined as a state levy.

Of course, it is thus a very serious and a very radical tax increase bill —lowering the taxes on no one except the holder of idle or non-productive land, and that to a negligible extent.

On the contrary, it materially increases the taxes of every farmer in Georgia who makes more than a living from his farm. There can be no dispute about that point.

In that particular, therefore, it proposes a direct system of double taxation. There can be no dispute either about that point.

Under it the property must pay to the state one tax levy under the ad valorem clause of the law; that is, four-tenths of one per cent on the returned valuation. And the income from that property, whether it be a farm or a factory, must pay to the state at same time another tax levy under the income clause of the law; that is, 3 per cent on the net income over and above the exemption. The one plus the other will constitute the state tax obligation.

The exemptions agreed upon in the house, by amendment, were only $1, 000 for single persons; $2,500 for married persons, and $200 for each minor child.

It matters not how pressing may be a state's financial needs—and Georgia's needs are certainly pressing, with a deficit of around $5,000, 000 on January 1st staring it in the face—there can be no justification for double taxation. It is wrong in principle, wrong in practice, and no circumstance can justify a wrong.

The question of taxation is always an unpopular one. Those who clamor for more appropriations are those who usually give least thought to providing the funds to meet them.

Taxes are, of course, necessary,
and it is a sound moral conviction, perhaps, that the person who is best able to pay should be made to pay more. By any fair system of taxation that is properly and justly enforced that result is true automatically.

In the meantime there is no question that Georgia's present tax system, even with the equalization law to strengthen it, is failing to meet the demands upon the treasury.
Something must be done toward remending the situation.

The pensioned veterans and their widows will be due $4,550,000 under the law on January 1. The state has no money in sight to pay them.
The institutions of the state are suffering from inadequate maintenance funds. The state has no money to increase them.

There are buildings under construction at some of the institutions on which work has been abandoned for one and two years because the state has not the funds to complete them.
The institutions thus suffer; the inmates suffer; and the state is losing every day by deterioration. These conditions should be remedied.

But, the remedy must be a fair and just one. Two wrongs can't make a right.

One who is penniless and hungry may steal or swindle. Lo! the yearning of a hungry stomach does not justify a crime. It does not justify even an unfair practice. There are other and fair methods that will not fail.

The treasury of Georgia is hungry, but that does not justify double taxation.

There are millions of dollars' worth of properties in Georgia that escape taxation. They are called invisible.

They will continue to escape taxation, as will the income from such properties, under the dual system that is now proposed.

There is nothing in the bill that will reach such properties that is not in the tax laws as they are today written.

On the other hand the overwhelming majority of taxpayers in Geo-gia, farmers, business men, factory owners, and so on, will be called upon to increase their taxes to meet greatly increased taxes.

What for?
To pay the enormously additional expense of administering a dual system, and to pay the deficits accru-ing from the one mill ad valorem reduction on idle properties, owned as a rule by people who do not live in Georgia.

The increase in the state's net revenues thus will be light while the taxation burdens will be materially increased for those people who do not escape or attempt to escape their tax obligations. It is wrong.

Some one asks, and logically so,
what is the remedy?
Tax distribution!

There is a way to reach the invisible properties. Segregation and classification will do it.

A stamp validity act will do it.
Reach them and Georgia will have no occasion—as pressing as may be her demands—for doubly taxing the people.

Some one may prove that a personal income tax may be the more satisfactory.

Very well, then, take that!
But do not couple it with an ad valorem tax also.

There is no argument that justifies making a farmer pay taxes on the

Ex-Senator Perry Points Way for State to Make Its Income and Expenses Meet

Editor Constitution: It seems difficult for the Georgia legislature to agree so that the state's income will equal its outgo.

They have talked on different systems of taxation in an endeavor to make income. Not one has said anything about decreasing expenses in order to make the outgo less. The governor recommends that the railroad commission be decreased to three.
This would help.

For the sake of taxpayers give some one the power to use that broom Governor Hardwick told us about two years ago. Stamp out the drones and inefficients.

Without the pardon board. We abolish it for generations and can do better now without it. It is a shame for tax-burdened people to have to pay high salaries to men to sit such cases as Frank DuPre. Take away from the governor the pardon power except when new evidence is found that did not go before the trial jury. This will do more to lessen crime than anything. Promptly and strictly enforce the law without delay and the main cause for mob violence will end. The mob collects and acts because the law and the courts fail to act.

The seasonal traveler department is costing $100,000 more than is necessary. Weed it out. Apply deflation to it. Go through all departments and reduce them in men and expenses. If this is done there will not be wanting of funds. Employ an auditing firm that is reliable and at a reasonable expense. Do not create any more departments at $30,000 a year expense. Adapt the state's pay to present conditions.

Come down from war prices and equalize deflation.

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
(Copyright, 1922, for The Constitution)

THE IRON RATION.

One good index of popular health ideas is the notion that iron gives one strength. It is unfortunate that so many people, as Jack Billings remarked, "know so many things, which ain't so." The blood of a man contains less than a teaspoonful of iron;
the daily quantity of iron required to keep the body supplied with all it needs is about one-half of a grain.
A quantity readily obtained in ordinary foods, for example 2-1/2 ounces of oatmeal or four ounces of peas or 2 ounces of lettuce furnishing the daily iron ration.

Fruits and vegetables containing chlorophyll, the green coloring matter of plants, have the most iron, such as spinach, cabbage, spinach, chard, onion and celery tops (few persons have enough health sense to eat the skins of apples and the tops of green onions and the green leaves of celery).

Whether iron is in organic or inorganic form, that is, whether in the form naturally found in foods or that of iron compounds or in mineral water, seems to be immaterial so far as utilization by the body is concerned. Some of the most competent physicians who have given this question study and made experimental tests believe the organic or mineral forms of iron preferable medicinally.

Iron is used medicinally because it stimulates the blood, the tissue, which produce red corpuscles, rather than to supply a deficiency of iron in the blood. For ordinary anemia (weakness) which is of a chronic or symptomatic secondary to some disease state and not an explanation for ill health in itself, the administration of iron in any form, organic, inorganic, or in mineral water, is of little practical value. The remedy for ordinary anemia is the discovery and proper treatment of whatever underlying disease condition or unhygienic habit may be causing it—say discontinuing the use of a blood destroying physic or painkiller, or eradicating some hidden septic focus.

Still, Jesh was right. A lot of plain people just know they need iron when they think they are anemic.

No one needs worry about his iron ration if he takes one or more of the following items, in the ordinary quantities taken at a meal, every day:
Peas, dried beans, string beans, lettuce, spinach, wheat bran, egg yolk, dried prunes, oatmeal, green onions or stewed onions, almonds, wheat, molasses, brown bread, dates, dandelion greens, peanuts, potatoes, baked and eaten with skins, jellies, jelly, raw cabbage, asparagus, plums, pears, pineapple, gooseberries, huckleberries,
prune (unpolished) or wild rice, pumpkin pie, tomatoes, rhubarb, beets.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Things We Fear.
My husband has had three attacks of appendicitis in the last six years.
The last attack being the worst. He refuses to have an operation to remove the appendix because he fears it may not prove successful. He has adopted a "sugar" method of warding off further attacks by avoiding all starchy foods and sweets, as advised by a friend. (B. A. M.)

Answer—Your husband is more courageous than I would be in his place, for to my mind the grave risk of appendicitis, fall out, is a greater risk involved in the operation. However, if he prefers to let some bystand-er prescribe for him, that is his right. Of course he can't live without starch and some sugars, but his experiments along that line may keep his mind off the great danger he is under as long as he harbors that diseased appendix.

Varicocele.
Please tell me if there is any cure for a varicocele and if you would advise going to a specialist. I see one guarantee to cure such diseases. (G. F.)

Answer—As a rule varicocele is a harmless condition and requires no treatment. If you think you need treatment, however, you should consult a reputable physician and not one who guarantees to cure any thing.

Stopping Perspiration.
Is it injurious to the eyes, as some claim, to stop or try to stop perspiration, that is excessive perspiration of the feet, or of the armpits?—
(P. O. W.)

Answer—No.
I am interested in your tobacco

Answer—I have no cure for the to-

Watch and Ring Missing After Midnight Joyride With Three Strangers

Joe D. Carr, who is stopping at the Marion hotel, reported to Police Officer Roy O. Eddleman that three men, whose names he does not know, took him for an automobile ride and robbed him of a valuable gold watch and a signet ring shortly before 3 o'clock Friday morning.

According to Officer Eddleman's report, Carr claims that the quartet were drinking, and he believed "dope" was placed in his whisky, as he remembers nothing about where they went on the ride. When he came to himself, he says his watch and ring were missing.

Detectives were instructed by Acting Police Chief A. Lamar Poole to thoroughly probe the alleged robbery.

Toys filling 88 large cases have been made by Polish children and sent to American orphans, cripples and invalid children in gratitude for food sent from this country to subnormal little ones of Poland immediately after the war.

Smith Tosses Hat Into Fulton Ring For Legislature

Interest in the local political situation was centered Friday on the entrance of Robert H. Smith, prominent young business man of the firm of Smith & Maier Realty company, into the race for legislature from Fulton county, on a platform embracing opposition to the present income tax, favoring election of municipal judges by popular vote, free school books, better roads, a better school system and other planks.

"I shall make public my full platform in a few days," declared Mr. Smith. "I think every man who offers himself for his fellow citizens' votes should give them that to judge by. I will say right now that I favor good roads, free school books, a better school system, popular election of municipal judges, taking the school management out of politics and opposition to the present income tax."

Headquarters have been opened by Mr. Smith in room 516 Grant building. Other developments Friday were announced speaking of Congressman William D. Upshaw, candidates for congress from the fifth district, and Governor Thomas W. Hardwick, in various sections of the state.

Mayor Key to Speak.
Mayor Key is scheduled to deliver an address at 4 o'clock in the afternoon at Stone Mountain before an assemblage of voters from DeKalb county and that section. This is the mayor's initial speaking date outside of Atlanta and he is expected to announce his campaign policies with reference to the office he seeks.

Congressman Upshaw will divide speaking honors with Judge Richard Russell, candidate for chief justice of the supreme court, and J. J. Brown, commissioner of agriculture, who is seeking re-election, at a convention of Odd Fellows, at Tucker, Ga.

Governor Hardwick left Friday for Warm Springs where he is scheduled to deliver an address Saturday morning before an audience composed of persons residing in Upson, Meriwether, Pike, Talbot and Coweta counties. In the afternoon at 1:30 he will address an assemblage at Talbotton, and at night will speak in Columbus. Leaving Columbus after his address, the governor will go to Waycross and from there to Brunswick where he will join members of the general assembly who will be in Brunswick Saturday and Sunday inspecting that city's claim for the state port.

Pay Entrance Fees.
A number of candidates for county offices paid their entrance fees Friday. The time for qualifying expires Saturday at noon, according to H. B. Cobb, secretary of the county democratic executive committee.

Those paying their entrance fees were Congressman Upshaw, Mayor Key, and R. O. Cochran, candidates for congressman from this district; Virgil Moore, E. F. Johnson, and Paul Etheridge, candidates for county commissioners; Judge John D. Humphries, Judge W. D. Ellis and Judge George L. Bell, candidates for judge of the superior court; Barney Bernard, Audrey M. Lane, J. O. Wood, and Frank Weldon, candidates for the state legislature.

Letter to Mayor Key.
Another development Friday was an open communication from W. E. Dunn, Jr., an official of the Southern Metal Trades association, with offices in the Candler building, addressed to Mayor Key, in which the mayor was asked to state his reasons "for supporting organized labor, which represents only 10 per cent of the country's working people."

"If I have a right to demand, and I think I have," writes Mr. Dunn, "I hereby demand that you publicly tell all the constituents in this congressional district just how you stand toward them, and whether or not you seek their support in the coming election. About the only reasons you have given for election to congress, or the principal reasons you have given, were your several fights and stunts for organized labor."

MESSINGER OF HOUSE WILL ASK RE-ELECTION
V. H. Haynes, messenger of the Georgia house of representatives for the past four sessions, is a candidate for re-election to that position in the next incoming house of 1923 and 1924. Mr. Haynes is a Confederate soldier, a former member of the house from Gordon county, and a former justice of the peace in Gordon county for forty-three years.

Mr. Haynes enlisted in the Confederate army in front of Murfreesboro, Tenn., in 1862. He served three years in the Third Confederate cavalry.

CAPTURED IN RAID, U. S. OFFICER WILL LOSE HIS POSITION

Victor Kass, 22, of 72 Peachtree place, special United States deputy marshal, will be dismissed "for conduct unbecoming a federal officer," according to announcement made by United States Marshal Walter Ackerman Friday, following the arrest of Kass Thursday night by city detectives in a raid on an alleged disorderly house at 73 Auburn avenue.

Kass was jailed with eight women and was held in default of a $200 bond until his trial Friday afternoon before Recorder Johnson. He was fined $5, which was paid.

Mrs. E. L. Snyder, 33, proprietor of the place that was raided, was bound over to the state courts under a $200 bond by Judge Johnson under a charge of "operating a disorderly house." The other seven women were given 24 hours by the court in which to move. They were Mrs. C. W. Moore, 22, who gave her address as a downtown hotel; Thelma Williams, 17; Bessie Burns, 17; Ethel Johnson, 19; Ethel Bryant, 18; Sarah Smith, 18, and Mrs. H. L. Tatum, 21, all of 73 Auburn avenue.

State Peach Crop Worth $8,000,000 Claims Exchange

The Georgia peach crop was worth more than $8,000,000 this year, according to a circular just issued by the Georgia Fruit exchange, which is the third largest crop in the history of the exchange. In carloads the crop exceeded the estimate of the exchange issued May 15 by 66 cars, the figure being 7,410. The exchange estimates that next season's crop will be between 12,000 and 15,000 carloads.

The exchange stated that the Georgia peaches went as far west as Omaha, Neb., as far north as points well into Canada, in Maine in the northeast, and Texas in the southwest. Practically the only point not reached was west of the Rocky mountains where naturally the California crop being more available and favorable by freight rates, has the market its way. The exchange claims that with its increased organization it will be able to assure facilities for marketing anywhere from a 50 to 200 per cent additional crop next year.

The Georgia crop this year included 14 varieties, the Mayflowers being the earliest with a shipping period of May 13-23, and the famous Elbertas the latest, shipped from July 3 until August 5, this one also having the longest run. In quantity the Hileys led, with the Elbertas second and the Georgia Belles running a close third.

CLEMMONS IS FREED ON ASSAULT CHARGE

Following a trial which lasted for two days, J. F. Clemmons, an employee of Foote & Davies company, was acquitted Friday on a charge of assault with intent to murder growing out of an alleged attack on E. F. Miller, an efficiency expert employed by the company at its Capitol avenue plant.

It developed during the trial that during a dispute between Clemmons and Miller, Miller attempted to strike Clemmons with an iron weight. Before the blow was landed, Clemmons knocked him down, it was shown. George Leverett, another employee, who is said to have been drinking, then attacked Clemmons, and he, too, was laid out by Clemmons. James L. Moore and Frank A. Doughman defended Clemmons.

Fall-Like Day Proves Welcome Surprise to City

Atlanta came very near establishing a new city record Friday when the highest point reached by the mercury at the United States weather bureau was 74 degrees Fahrenheit. As it is, this is the lowest maximum temperature of any August day since August 13, 1917, when the same number of degrees was registered.

In commenting on the performance of the mercury C. F. von Hermann, in charge of the local weather bureau, said that it is very hard to beat a record nowadays.

He called attention to the fact that weather reports now cover a period of 43 years and that these records show that 66 is the lowest maximum temperature recorded in August since the records began in 1879. That record was made August 6, 1894.

It so happened that August 11 has been figured in records before. Just 22 years ago, Friday, August 11, 1900, the highest temperature ever recorded in Atlanta for any August day was reached, being 98.

When a Constitution reporter expressed doubt on this point a further examination showed that 100 has been reached but twice since the records have been kept in Atlanta. That point was reached July 19, 1887, and again June 25, 1914. The highest yet reached this summer is 93, which point has been recorded twice, June 17 and July 30.

BADGETT ASKS PEACE WARRANT FOR MRS. PERKINS

Plea for a peace warrant for Mrs. Newell Perkins, of 235 Ivy street, filed Friday by S. K. Badgett, of 84 Carroll street, as a result of a quarrel over the ownership of a grocery store which was aired Thursday in police court, probably will be heard some time Saturday in municipal court.

Mrs. Perkins was fined $10 in police court Thursday, and held for the state courts on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon.

G. W. Wood, father of Mrs. Perkins, is one of the claimants of the store involved in a feud said to exist between the Perkins and Badgett families. Wood told Recorder Johnson he had sold the store to a man named Martin, and that Martin in turn sold it to Badgett, without paying him, however, for the store. For that reason, he contended he is still the legal proprietor.

Mrs. Perkins is said to have tried to forcibly take control of the store Thursday. At pistol point, she is said to have ordered Badgett and a number of customers out of the place.

AT WOMAN'S WINDOW

BY W. L. GEORGE

In these times more than any, a woman is likely to have the experience of being poorer today than she was the day before. She may be richer tomorrow, but today is mediocre. What is she to do to make today tolerable, this being, perhaps, the whole problem of life? Well, she can be as wretched as she likes, and many women enjoy this, but since the world will only help her to become more wretched it seems a poor policy.

The solemn wise people will tell you that if you are poor you must cut your coat according to your cloth, that in the midst of life we are in death, and all that sort of depressing stuff. The foolish people like myself, on in moments of exultation think themselves wise, point out to you that even if you have little cloth you must get a coat, that you do get a coat in the end. There is no avoiding the fact. Moreover, the better your coat the more credit you will get. You are poor today, yes, but you intend to be richer tomorrow. How are you to get richer unless people think you are substantial? Why, it is when you're rich that you can afford a poor coat; when you're poor then you must have the best that money can buy, especially if you haven't the money to buy it with. All life is appearance. Good appearance make good lives. In this sense I am entirely Victorian; ten years ago I discovered that I had nothing but debts. So I gave three dinner parties with champagne. An editor came, drank the champagne. The result was comparative affluence. Put a bad face on things and people will slap it; a good one and the world will kiss it.

THE POOR SLAVE.

Theoretically slavery was abolished in America almost sixty years ago, and yet I know a woman who is a slave. And a slave to a very tyrannical master, too.

She is a woman who lives near us at a place where we spend the summer. She has a pleasant home, more than ordinary financial freedom, and more than the average person's share of leisure. If it weren't for the tyrant who rules her life she might have a lot of happiness.

Do I refer to her husband, you are wondering? It certainly does sound as if I were leading up to that. No, she has a very kind and reasonable husband.

She hates Mosquitoes. The tyrant in the case is not her husband, but her hates. This woman is the slave of her own hates. Perhaps I should use the word "dislike," but I use the word "hates."

HOW TO SAVE WHEN SHOPPING

By Ruth Leigh

Author of "The Woman Side of Retail Selling," "The A &amp; C of Retailing," etc.

Did you ever know that some unreliable merchants treat oysters with fresh water in order to swell them and thus make them appear larger and plumper than they really are? Many customers are thus deceived regarding not only the size of the oysters they are buying but the flavor also, as this treatment spoils the natural taste of oysters.

The way to buy oysters, of course, is either to get them right in the shell and remove them yourself, or to take them home from the store and eat them almost immediately after they have been removed from the shell. Oysters deteriorate almost as soon as they are taken from the shell, and the flavor and the aroma are spoiled if they are allowed to come in contact with the air for very long.

In some cities oysters are delivered fresh daily from their beds and are opened in quantities and put in tubs, from which you buy them. Thus it is possible to buy oysters which have not been opened more than twenty-four hours. The best way to secure these fresh oysters is to go yourself to the fish market and to buy them while they are in the shell, so that there is no chance of your being sent oysters that have been soaked in a tub for many hours.

The best season for oysters on the Atlantic, Gulf and Pacific coasts of the United States is from September 1 to May. It is usually said that all months which have an "r" in them, are good months for eating oysters.

Do you know how to test the strength of any material? Monday's talk will tell you. (Copyright, 1922, for The Constitution.)

are ruled out altogether, also certain roads at all times, also certain times of the day when commuters are using the roads.

And Cinders.

She was one of a group of us who went to the city to do some shopping and she really seemed to be enjoying herself, but on the way home in the train the wind blew in such a way that she was showered with cinders. "How I hate cinders," she said. "Disgusting things! That spoils the whole trip for me." We didn't any of us like cinders. In fact, I don't just now recall anyone who has ever expressed to me a fondness for them. But we didn't "hate" them. So our trips were not spoiled.

But we were slaves to our hates. Or at least not to the extent that she is. Most of us have suffered in some degree from this form of self-imposed tyranny. But anyone with common sense and a sense of proportion is wise enough to fight the tyrant for the sake of his own freedom and happiness.

Hips, Back and Legs would Have That Tired Ache

Everett, Washington.—"For several years I have had trouble with the lowest part of my back and my hips and my legs would ache with that tired ache. I could hardly stand on my feet at times. I was always able to do my work although I feel good. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and having heard several friends praise it I decided to try it. I feel first-rate at the present time. It has done wonders for me and I keep it in the house right along. I always recommend it to others who are sick and ailing."—Mrs. J. M. To do any kind of work, or to play for that matter, is next to impossible if you are suffering from some form of female trouble. It may cause your back or your legs to ache, it may make you nervous and irritable. You may be able to keep up and around, but you do not feel good.

Mr. and Mrs. Malone were the only witnesses at the marriage.

Probing Robbery Of Woman's Grave In Ghoulish Plot

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., August 11.—Investigation of the robbery of a grave on Drummond island, said to have been committed for the purpose of obtaining the body of a woman that was to be used in an alleged plot to defraud a Canadian insurance company, today was under supervision of Merlin Wiley, attorney-general, with whom county officials were co-operating.

Aided by information given them by Mrs. Ruth Knudson, of Boyd, Wis., and her brother, Clifford Harrison, the authorities announced that they were pursuing clues that promised to reveal the men figures in the alleged plot. One of them, it was reported, was a prominent Canadian physician.

The officers also were endeavoring to check up on the motive for the raid upon the cemetery, statements credited to Mrs. Knudson and Harrison differing on that point.

Harrison told the investigators yesterday that the body of a woman was disinterred for use in an insurance fraud, while his sister was said by the officers to have declared certain organs of the woman's body were desired by a physician for experimental purposes.

According to Harrison the body was to have been placed in a house as evidence that Mrs. Knudson had perished. An attempt was then to have been made to collect $11,000 in insurance carried by Mrs. Knudson.

To support Mrs. Knudson's story, however, officers declared, was the fact that certain organs were removed from the disinterred body apparently by a surgeon.

Mrs. Knudson, according to the authorities, admitted a part in the plot, explaining that she was drugged and forced into it by threats upon her life. Harrison declared he was intoxicated when he entered into the scheme.

SEASON

CURLING THE HAIR IN THIS

At this season of the year so many women are asking ways to keep the hair in curl that I am offering some advice. In most cases it would be best to stop trying to keep the hair in curl and adopt a new arrangement, not requiring this strenuous, and often uncomfortable, treatment. A simple method of dressing the hair is also the more pleasing during the hot weather period.

During the cold months the hair loses much of its vitality through our manner of living in dry and often overheated buildings and some curling is often needed to make a becoming coiffure. But this should not be the case at this season and hair that is sunned and aired will be so vital with a natural gloss to it, there should be no trouble in arranging it becomingly.

When the hair has had this advantage and shows the effects of it by being soft and fluffy, omit the curling for a few months even though the hair is quite straight. You may even be surprised to see how much younger you look in the simpler way of arranging the hair.

However, there are cases where the hair is so dehydrated that it sinks and packs to the head. With such a condition curling is necessary as it softens and even helps to air the scalp.

I am offering the following formula as a curling fluid, which I understand will keep the hair in curl over every day even though there is much dampness in the atmosphere. It is made by adding one gramme of gum tragacanth to 100 grammes of rose water and letting stand overnight. In another vessel dissolve six grammes of salicylic acid by adding hot water to make 100 grammes. This also stands overnight. In the morning strain and put the two together. Dampen hair with this before curling.

The Involuntary Vamp

by Mildred Barbour

INSTALLMENT NO. 90.
Happiness at Last.

It was Diana's wedding day. My first real wedding, she thought as she pushed aside the curtains and looked out into the early sunlight of a perfect summer morning. Nearly a year had passed since that other June day when she had driven to town with Alex Leigh and Sylvia and Ted and gone through that travesty of a marriage.

She shuddered as she remembered her black despair on that drive. How her heart had ached at the sight of Dale, speeding by in his long gray car. And now—

"Good morning, Juliet," called a laughing voice from the garden. Diana started and looked down. Then she broke off a rose from the rambling that climbed beside her window sill, kissed it, and tossed it down. "You're an early Romeo," she smiled down at Dale, lithely handsome in white flannels. He looked years younger, she thought. The tragic expression was gone from his eyes. The weary lines had left his face. He looked like a young god.

"Do you know, I don't suppose you supposed to see me until the ceremony?"

"Too long to wait," he smiled, fastening the rose in his buttonhole. "That confounded rector said he couldn't possibly get here before noon, you know."

Diana glanced over her shoulder apprehensively.

An Easy Decision. "Marjorie would disapprove awfully if she knew about this early morning interview."

He grinned. "Marjorie is already out showing the admiral over the grounds. I think she picked a winner when she took this place for the summer. You're sure you'd rather go off on the yacht with me tomorrow than stay down here for a honeymoon?" he asked with twinkling eyes.

"I'm not quite sure," Diana considered with mock gravity, "but I'm trying to make the best of it, she sighed."

"You darling! I wish I could kiss you this morning!"

"Be careful," warned Diana with pretended alarm. "Marjorie's here."

"Oh damn everybody! When am I ever going to get you off to myself where you won't be surrounded by maids and chaperones and parents?"

She laughed. "Poor old Dad is rather in the way, isn't he? Did you ever hear such a row as he raised last night when the windmill wouldn't work and he couldn't have a hot tub as soon as he arrived from the train? Never mind, we'll be away from everybody by three o'clock, won't we? Now, I must fly and have my breakfast, and go through my perfect horde of mail, and get dressed for the great event."

She blew him a kiss and turned back to her room.

There was a knock on the breakfast tray. There was a stack of letters on the folded serviette.

While her chocolate cooled, Diana tore open the uppermost envelope. It bore a foreign postmark and she recognized Sylvia Saunders' dashing hand.

Out dropped a postcard snapshot of Sylvia and Ted, laughingly perched in a jinnickha.

"Tokio is delicious!" Sylvia had scrawled beneath it. "Just heard the news about you and Mr. Dale. I always knew it. Ted sends love. We are expecting an heir in August. Back home for Christmas." Diana laughed aloud. The message was so characteristic of Sylvia.

She looked at the snapshot. Crude as it was, it could not hide the unmistakable look of happiness in the faces of the young couple. Diana breathed a little sigh of thankfulness. Their marriage would "go" after all. Ted, dear fine old Ted, had played the game. He was getting his reward.

At the bottom of the stack of letters Diana found another tiny envelope bearing an Oriental postmark. She tore it open with fingers that trembled with premonition.

She had heard nothing from the Borden since that night when the doctor had cleared Dale's slate and gone quietly away leaving them alone together.

Echoes. When she had enquired at the hotel desk, she had been informed that Dr.

Miss Theo Prioleau Weds Sherman L. McFarland

Mrs. Eula S. Prioleau announces the marriage of her daughter, Theo Prioleau, to Sherman L. McFarland, of Sioux Rapids, Iowa, which took place in Denver, Colo., on July 26.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. Prioleau and the late William Prioleau, of Atlanta, who was prominent in southern insurance circles. She is a sister of Mrs. Charles Wood, of Atlanta; Morris Prioleau, of Los Angeles, Cal.; William Prioleau, of Columbia, S. C.; and a niece of the late Mrs. W. D. Ellis, Sr. She was educated in Atlanta, and afterward finished her education in New York. During the world war she volunteered her services and was sent to France, representing the Atlanta Junior League in Red Cross work. She has been identified with social service work for the government. Mrs. McFarland is unusually attractive, and has a charming personality. She is a descendant of one of the oldest and most historic of Huguenot families identified with the state of South Carolina.

Mrs. McFarland is now connected with the government and holds an important position in the postal department at Camp St. Simmons, in Denver. He is very popular socially and has a wide circle of friends.

The regular monthly meeting of the Atlanta Child's home was held in the Carnegie library assembly room, August 8. Owing to the illness of the president, Mrs. Frank Mason Robinson, Mrs. P. M. Essig, the third vice president, presided.

The circles were well represented, and reported much work accomplished.

Mrs. Arthur Pepin, general chairman of "Pencil day," organized various committees. Enthusiasm is waxing warm over this unique "Pencil day," which will be put in operation on the streets of the city Thursday, September 7.

The home is doing a wonderful work for both mothers and babies,

Atlanta Alumnae Of Bessie Tift Organize Friday

The alumnae of Bessie Tift college who live in Atlanta met at the Edison hall Friday at noon and organized an Atlanta chapter of the Alumnae association of Bessie Tift college. There is a movement among the graduates of the college for women at Forsyth to organize local chapters in every community in the state and throughout the south.

Mrs. Roy E. Calhoun was elected president of the Atlanta chapter. Mrs. Calhoun was Miss Emily Bealer before marriage and is one of the well known graduates of Bessie Tift college.

Mrs. R. Z. Shugart was elected secretary and Mrs. Louise D. Newton was elected corresponding secretary.

President Calhoun of the college was to have addressed the meeting yesterday but he has been called to New York and was unable to attend. He sent a telegram to the meeting expressing his appreciation of the Atlanta alumnae and their support of the institution.

The next meeting will be held in Edison hall the first Friday in September.

Visitors Honored At Party By Mrs. W. A. Sharp

Miss Helen Whittaker, of Raleigh, N. C., the guest of Mrs. W. J. Rooke; Miss Eugenia Harrison, of Toledo, Ohio, the guest of Mrs. Willard Lee, and Mrs. A. A. Council, of Tampa, Fla., the guest of Mrs. T. J. Day, Jr., were honor guests at the bridge-luncheon given Friday by Mrs. W. A. Sharp, at her home in College Park.

Yellow sunnias and lavender bud-deia were used to decorate the porch, where the game was played.

In the dining room, the lace-covered table had for the central decoration a basket holding yellow sunnias and lavender bud-deia, the handle of the basket tied with lavender and yellow tulle. Yellow candles in silver candlesticks encircled the centerpiece.

The score cards were hand-painted in yellow and lavender figures. Hand-made handkerchiefs were given as guest prizes, and a dozen tea napkins were top score prize, and the consolation was a deck of cards.

Mrs. Sharp was dressed in brown dotted swiss. Miss Harrison wore a sport suit of blue and white Canton crepe. Mrs. Council's summer frock was of white dotted swiss and Miss Whittaker wore a dress of white Canton crepe. Assisting Mrs. Sharp in entertaining were her daughter, Miss Ninetta Sharp; Miss Louise Sifton, Mrs. Bennett, Mrs. Henry Noble, Mrs. T. J. Day, Jr., Mrs. Arthur Council, Mrs. Wynnton Thomas, Mrs. Jack Kelt, Mrs. T. O. Thomas, Mrs. Worley Sewell, Miss Helen Whittaker, Mrs. Donald Bennett, Mrs. Crowder Hale, Mrs. George Longino, Mrs. Tom Stewart, Mr. Newell and Mrs. Sharp.

Dance Tonight For Younger Set.

An enjoyable event of Saturday evening, August 12, will be a dance for the younger dancing set, given by Joseph Whittenberg and Jack Harris at the home of Mrs. J. B. Peck, 522 Peachtree street. Music will be furnished by the Georgia Serenaders' orchestra and dancing will be enjoyed from 9 until 12 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Weddell Are Dinner Hosts.

An informal affair of Friday evening was the dinner party given by Mr. and Mrs. Reid Weddell at Verner's lodge, on Peachtree road, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Reg Robinson, whose marriage was a recent social event in August. Mrs. Robinson were green and white jersey with a sports hat to match, and Mrs. Weddell wore a white crepe model with a white hat.

The guests included a few close friends of the honor guests.

Mrs. Sullivan Gives Luncheon.

The Mission Study class of Circle No. 1, Kirkwood Baptist Missionary society, was entertained Thursday at a luncheon given by Mrs. A. G. Sullivan, the class just having completed a successful series of studies on missionary work in Brazil. Those present were Mesdames H. S. Hamilton, R. V. Hartwell, A. B. Hargrave, A. I. Branham, F. S. Ivy, R. W. Norrell, J. L. Jackson, W. H. Smith, and D. S. Mauck. The class will not take up further mission study until some time in October.

TO STOP MINORS FROM ENLISTING IN MARINE CORPS

Orders were received by Captain George Bower, U. S. M. C., recruiting officer for the marine corps at room 510 postoffice building, Friday, to require all Georgians who apply for enlistment who are under 21 years of age to produce a certificate of birth, before they can be accepted. During July more than 150 southerners were turned back in their efforts to enlist, because they were under the legal age, which ranged from 15 to 17 years.

From the peaceful search of recruits in Atlanta to the more arduous task of maintenance of law and order in that troublesome republic of Haiti, is the choice of Corporal Joseph K. Roberts, U. S. M. C., who was discharged Thursday upon the expiration of his enlistment, and immediately re-enlisted for four more years.

Corporal Roberts, a native of Rutledge, Ga., has been in the marine corps for the past five years and helped to stop the German drive on Paris at Chateau Thierry.

A. M. E. MISSIONARY SOCIETY CONVENTION

The district women and home foreign missionary societies of the Atlanta district of the A. M. E. church convened in Grove street A. M. E. church Friday morning. Hildonia Canady, president, made the opening address. Dr. H. D. Canady, presiding elder, also spoke.

Rev. W. J. Williams, pastor of Cosmopolitan A. M. E. church, delivered the annual sermon. Rev. J. B. Egleston, J. S. Jenkins and R. H. Singleton delivered addresses.

The convention will close Sunday afternoon with an educational mass meeting.

Women of America Steadily Gaining In Buxom Beauty

New York, August 11.—The women of the United States are steadily losing in their desperate battle with the weighing machine. Which is to say they are gaining or becoming daily more widespread in the horizontal dimension.

This unhappy communique comes from the manufacturers of women's clothing, who are showing this season's styles in the great merchandise fair which completely fills the Grand Central palace and the Seventy-first regiment armory.

Forty-five per cent of the American women are classified as stout for the purposes of the manufacturing trade," said Charles Pomerantz, of Blogg and Littauer, exhibitors of ready-to-wear costumes. "The women in the country are gaining more rapidly than their city sisters for proportionately more of the stout size garments go to small town dealers."

Bowed down by the growing weight of the facts, the manufacturers nevertheless are doing their best to ameliorate the condition of the ladies who count their calories. All stout, overweight and fat size garments are designed with a view to creating the impression of school-girlish slimmness where slimmness doesn't exist.

GEORGIA J. O. U. A. M.
HONORS BLACKBURN

R. B. Blackburn, Atlanta attorney, was elected Georgia representative to the national convocation of the J. O. U. A. M., at Columbus, Ga., August 7 and 8. Mr. Blackburn has belonged to this order for 25 years and has been state counselor and is now past junior state counselor.

Vernon Elliott, an Augusta attorney, was elected as the other representative to the national council. The council convenes every two years, the next convention to be held in June 1923, at some point in the state of Vermont.

Other officers elected at the Columbus convention were Dwight Deas, of Augusta, state counselor; John Marchant, of Columbus, state vice-counselor; Judge O. H. Puget, of Atlanta, re-elected state treasurer and J. E. Lovelace, of Atlanta, state secretary.

Miss Louise Hays Entertains House Party at Montezuma

Miss Louise Hays, of Montezuma, has been entertaining a house party this week at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James E. Hays, and they have enjoyed a round of gaieties. In the party were Misses Louise Inman, Atlanta; Bolling Dismukes, Columbus; Janet McKitchie, of Newnan; Martha Nesbit, Elizabeth McCow, Marian Elliott and Ruth Grice, of Macon. Luncheons, bridge parties and dances filled their time, a final event being a large dance in Americus. They return home today.

Mrs. Howkins, of Savannah, Urges Special Legislation

Insuring Georgia mothers the opportunity to bring up strong and healthy citizens is the reason for the women in industry bill now before the Georgia legislature, says Mrs. J. S. Howkins, of Savannah, former president of the Savannah Federation of Women's Clubs and a leader in the state federation.

"The Savannah woman's federation last year was instrumental in having a survey made of the conditions under which women work in Georgia. This survey showed how badly the state needs shorter working hours and improved sanitary conditions.

"How is Georgia going to attain and maintain its rightful position among her sister states when the motherhood of the state is being slowly but surely weakened and maimed by the working conditions now existing throughout the commonwealth? The future citizens of our state can be no stronger than the parent tree, and the maternal branch of this tree is being stunted and shorn of its vitality by conditions that make it impossible for working mothers to either bear or bring up any but weakened, neglected, and totally unfit children. It rests with you, men of Georgia!

"Other states are providing for the future by insuring the mothers at least the opportunity to bring up strong and useful citizens for the future welfare of the state. The women are working in the shops 12 and 14 hours a day. How can cleanliness and clean citizenship be taught to the rising generations when the mothers spend their days working among grossly unsanitary working conditions? Give the women a nine or ten-hour day, and sanitary working conditions. They do not ask more, and they and Georgia deserve it."

Chicago Organist
At St. Luke's.

Miss Dora Duck, for sometime organist and choir director of St. Chrysostom's Episcopal church of Chicago, Ill., which has an "a cappella" choir of trained voices, has arrived to be organist and choir director of St. Luke's Episcopal church of this city.

Miss Duck is a member of the American Guild of Organists and has studied with the finest artists in the country. She is also an experienced teacher of organ and piano.

"writes Mrs. Howkins in a special article for The Constitution, "has been back of every movement for the betterment of conditions under which women and children work. The federated last year was instrumental in having a survey made of the conditions under which women work in Georgia. This survey showed how badly the state needs shorter working hours and improved sanitary conditions.

"How is Georgia going to attain and maintain its rightful position among her sister states when the motherhood of the state is being slowly but surely weakened and maimed by the working conditions now existing throughout the commonwealth? # The Constitution's Novel-a-Week The Magnificent Adventure

By EMERSON HOUGH

Next Week, "The Grand Babylon Hotel"
By Arnold Bennett

Her tone seemed icy, though her soul was in her eyes. He took her hand in both of his own, and looked down into her face. She gazed up at him, and swiftly, mercifully, the tears came. Gently, as if she had been a child, he dried them for her—as once when a boy, he had promised to do. They were alone now. The cold silence of the prison was about them; but their own long silence seemed a golden, glowing thing. Thus only in their silence—could they speak. They did not know that they stood hand in hand.

"My husband is not here," said she at length, gently disengaging her hand from his. "No one knows me now, every one avoids me. You must not be seen with me—a pariah, an outcast! I am my father's only friend. Already they condemn him; yet he is as innocent as any man ever was."

"I shall say no word to change that belief," said Meriwether Lewis. "But your husband is not here? It is he whom I must see at once."
"Why must you see him?"
"You must know! It is my duty to go to him and to tell him that I am the man who—made you weep. He must have his satisfaction. Nothing that he can do will punish me as my own conscience has already punished me. It is no use—I shall not ask you to forgive me—I will not be so cheap."

"But—suppose he does not know?"
He could only stand silent, regarding her fixedly.
"He must never know!" she went on. "It is no time for quixotism to make yet another suffer. We two must be strong enough to carry our own secret. It is better and kinder that it should be between two than among three. I thought you dead, let the past remain past—let it bury its own dead!"

"It is our time of reckoning," said he, at length. "Guiltily as I have been, sinning as I have sinned—tell me, was I alone in the wrong? Listen. Those who joined your father's cause were asked to join in treason to their country. Tell me, did you know this when you came to me?"

He saw the quick pain upon her face, the flush that rose to her pale cheek. She drew herself up proudly. "I shall not answer that," said she. "No!" he exclaimed, swiftly and gently. "You never knew—you were innocent. You do right not to answer such a question."

"I only wanted you to be happy—that was my one desire," she looked aside, and a moment passed before she heard his deep voice reply.
"Happy! I am the most unhappy man in all the world. But tell me, what would make you most happy now, of these things remaining? I have come back to pay my debts. Is there anything I can do? What would make you happiest?"

"My father's freedom!"
"I cannot promise that; but all that I can do I will."
"Were my father guilty, that would be the act of a noble mind. But how? You are Mr. Jefferson's friend, not the friend of Aaron Burr. All the world knows that."

"Precisely. All the world knows that, or thinks it does. It thinks it knows that Mr. Jefferson is implacable. But suppose all the world were set to wondering? I am just wondering myself if it would be right to suborn a jurymen, like John Randolph, of Roanoke?"
"That is impossible. What do you mean?"
"I mean this. This afternoon you and I will go into the trial-room together. I have not yet attended a session of the court. Today I will hand you to your seat in full sight of the jury-box."

"You—give your presence to one who is now a social pariah? The ladies of Richmond no longer speak to me. But to what purpose?"

"Perhaps to small purpose. I cannot tell. But let us suppose that I do with you, and that we sit there in sight of all. I am known to be the intimate friend of Mr. Jefferson."

"Ergo, Mr. Jefferson is not hostile to us? And you would do that—you would take that chance?"

"For you."
And he did—for her. That afternoon all the crowded courtroom saw the beadle make way for two persons of importance. One was a tall, grave, distinguished looking man, impassive, calm, a man whose face was known to all—the new governor of Louisiana, viceroy of the country that Burr had lost. Upon his arm, clad all in black, walked the daughter of the president of the bar. There, in full view of all the attendants, in full view of the jury—and of John Randolph of Roanoke, its foreman, were the two persons who had had most to do with this scene of which they now made a part. There sat the man who had explored the great west, and the woman who had done her best to prevent that exploration; Mr. Jefferson's friend, and the daughter of the great conspirator, Aaron Burr. Ergo, said many tongues swiftly—and leaned head to head to whisper it. Mind sometimes speaks to mind—even across the rail of a jury-box. The issue of that great trial was to come for weeks as yet; but when it came, and by whatever process, Aaron Burr was acquitted of the charges brought against him. The republic for whose downfall he had the great set him free and bade him be gone.

But now, at the close of this day, the two central figures of the tragic drama found themselves together alone more than a year later, where they had been in the prison room; and it was here that they parted. Between them, as they stood now at last, about to part, there stretched an abyssal gulf which might never personally be passed by either. She faced him at length, trembling, pleading helplessly. "How mighty a thing is a man's sense of honor!" she said slowly. "You have done what I never would have asked you to do, and I am glad that you did. I once asked you to do what you would not do, and I am glad that you did not. How can I repay you for what you have done today? I cannot tell how, but I feel that you have turned the tide for us. Ah, if ever you felt that you owed me anything, it is paid—all your debt to me and mine. See, I no longer weep. You have dried my tears!"

"We cannot balance debits and credits," he replied. "There is no way in the world in which you and I can ever be quits. Only one thing is sure—I must go!"

"I cannot say good-by," said she. "No, I dare not," said he hoarsely. "Why? Do you wish to leave me still feeling that I am in your debt? You can afford so much now," she said brokenly, "for those who have never won."

"Think you that I have won?" he broke out. "Theodosia—Theo—I shall call you by your old name just once—I do not take your hand—I dare not touch you because I love you. I always shall. God help me, it is the truth!"

"Did you get my letters?" she said suddenly, and looked him fair in the face.
Meriwether Lewis stood searching her countenance with his own grave eyes. "Letters?" said he at length. "What letters?"

Her eyes looked up at him luminously. "You are glorious!" said she. "Yes, a woman's name would be safe with you. You are strong. How terrible a thing is a sense of honor! But you are glorious! Good-by!"

CHAP. XXI—Down to the Sea.
After months of severe duty in the west, as governor, Meriwether Lewis, ill with fever, set out from Chickasaw Bluffs with a suitable escort, on an overland journey to Washington to consult the president. Riding ahead of his party, it was late in the evening when he reined up in front of a somewhat unattractive homestead cabin, squatted down alongside the Natchez Trace; a place where sometimes hospitality of a sort was dispensed. At his call there appeared a woman—Mrs. Grindler, she announced herself.

"Madam," he inquired, "could you entertain me and my party for the night?"
"My husband is not here," said the woman. "We are not well fixed, but I reckon if we can stand it all the time, you can for a night."

He carried his saddle-bags into the room pointed out to him, flung them down, and began to pace up and down, sometimes talking to himself. After a time the hostess of the lockwood cabin sought to make up a bed for him, but he motioned her to desist. "It is not necessary," said he. "I have slept so much in the open that this rarely I use a bed at all. I see now that my servant has been right, and is in the yard yonder. Tell him to bring my robes and blankets."

Peria, his French servant, had by this time, found his way to the cabin along the trail. He was alone. "Come, man!" said Lewis. "Make down my bed for me—I am ill. And

THE GUMPS—O, I DON'T KNOW, IT MAY BE SO

LOOK AT THE BRUISES ON THE BACK WHERE YOU'VE BEEN HITTING THEM WITH THAT SINKER OF YOURS—IF YOU WANT TO CATCH THEM WITH A HOOK YOU'LL HAVE TO DRAW IT ALONG SLOWLY SO WHEN IT GETS TO THEIR MOUTH THEY CAN TAKE IT—THEY'RE SO CLOSE TOGETHER THEY CAN'T TURN AROUND—SINCE I'VE BEEN MARRIED I'VE HAD NO TIME TO FISH AND THEY'VE MULTIPLIED SO FAST THEY'VE GOT THE BEST OF ME—

SEE—THERE ARE A COUPLE OF SMALL FISH—I'VE BEEN FISHING ALL MORNING BUT I DIDN'T LAND ANYTHING LIKE THAT—I'VE GOT TO HAND IT TO YOU, OLD KID—WHERE DID YOU CATCH THEM?

CATCH THEM! JUST REACHED THEM IN THE LAKE AND LIFTED THEM OUT—THEY'RE PACKED IN THERE LIKE SARDINES IN A BOX—I'M TAKING THEM OVER TO THE OTHER LAKE—IT'S NOT SO CROWDED OVER THERE—IT WILL TAKE ABOUT 30 DAYS HARD WORK TO MAKE THEM COMFORTABLE—

Many days later the French servant, Peria, rode up to the Lewis homestead in old Virginia. The news he bore had preceded him. He met a stern-faced, dark-browed woman, who regarded him coldly when he announced his name, and regarded him in silence. The servant found him that ship was Theodosia Alston, the daughter of Aaron Burr. That much is known. The ship sailed. It never came to port. To this day none knows what was the fate of Aaron Burr's daughter. A million heart-fires mark the camp-fire trail of Meriwether Lewis. That is the happy ending of his story—his country! It is ours. As its title came to us in honor, it is for us to love it honorably, to use it honorably, and to defend it honorably. None may withstand us while we hold his ambitions—while our sons measure up to the stature of such a man. THE END.

SOMEBODY'S STENOG—Watch Your Step, Cam!

WELL HERE WE ARE ENJOYING THE WOODS—CAMPED HERE MILES AWAY FROM TROUBLE AND I BET THE BOSS IS HAVING HIS OWN TROUBLES! WONDER IF HE MISSES ME!

YER AINT CONCEITED ARE YER!

I CAN JUST SEE POOR MISS SCRATCH NOW TRYIN' TO PLEASE THE OLD CRAB! SHE BIT OFF SOMETHING WHEN SHE ASKED TO BAT FOR ME WHILE I WAS AWAY! GUESS SHE CAN HOLD OUT BUT I'LL HAVE A MESS TO CLEAN UP.

POOR MISS SCRATCH! THE DICKENS! I DON'T LIKE THAT DAME!

MISS SCRATCH I WANT TO COMPLIMENT YOU ON THAT LAST BATCH OF WORK. YOU'RE DOING VERY WELL VERY WELL

MISTER SMITHERS, THE FILES WERE SO MIXED UP IT WAS SLOW FINDING THAT SMITH LETTER AND—I DON'T WANT TO KNOCK BUT THE MACHINE HASN'T BEEN CLEANED FOR MONTHS, AND WE'LL NEED SOME STAMPS.

STAMPS? WHY I GAVE MISS OFFAGE A THOUSAND JUST BEFORE SHE WENT. WE COULDN'T HAVE USED ALL OF 'EM. THAT'S STRANGE.

HOME, SWEET HOME—He Made the Proper Mistake This Time

YES, MY FIRST HUSBAND'S PEOPLE HAD SUCH QUELL NOTIONS—WHEN COMPANY CALLED THEY'D DRESS UP THEIR OLD JOBS MAN IN AN OLD LOOK UNIFORM SO HE'D LOOK LIKE A BUTLER—THEY SAID THE PRINCE OF WALES WAS A DISTANT RELATIVE—AND WHEN HE CAME OVER HERE HE CERTAINLY ACTED DISTANT, TOO

THEY HAD FOUR DAUGHTERS—ALL POP EYES—THEIR CLOTHES ALWAYS LOOKED AS THOUGH THEY WERE THROWN ON 'EM—FOR TEN YEARS THE OLDEST ONE TALKED ABOUT MARRIAGE A NOBBY LOOKING MILLIONAIRE FOR LOVE—FINALLY SHE WAS GLAD TO GET A HUSBAND WHO RAN A MAIL ORDER LAUNDRY—OR SOMETHING

EVERYBODY SAID THE BOYS TOOK AFTER THEIR FATHER—I'LL SAY THEY DID, TOO—I SAW THEM TAKE AFTER HIM ONE SUNDAY MORNING FOR THROWING FLATIRON BACK AT THE MOTHER AND IF HE HADN'T BEEN A GOOD RUNNER IT WOULD HAVE BEEN POP! POP! GOO NIGHT! GOO NIGHT! GOING SO SOON?

YOU OLD DEAR, I THOUGHT YOU WERE ASLEEP—THAT WAS A SPECTACULAR OPPORTUNITY AND I'M GLAD YOU WERE QUICK WITTED ENOUGH TO TAKE ADVANTAGE OF IT

STILL HALF ASLEEP

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER Ganzy Spoiled His Own Game

I'D GIVE ANYTHING IF THE TYLER TWINS WOULD LEAVE THIS HOTEL! THEY BRING BACK SUCH BAD RECOLLECTIONS!

WELL DON'T WORRY! I WROTE TO MY SECRETARY IN TOWN AND HE'S GONNA SEND 'EM TWO TELEGRAMS TO COME RIGHT BACK ON IMPORTANT BUSINESS!! THEY'LL BE LEAVIN' SOON!

I JUST GOT A WIRE TO GO BACK TO TOWN ON IMPORTANT BUSINESS!! OH, I'M SO SORRY YOU BOYS HAVE TO LEAVE!!

ME TOO WINNIE! JUST GOT A WIRE TO RUSH BACK ON A BIG BUSINESS DEAL!!

WELL IT WORKED FINE, EN WINNIE? NOW WE CAN GO ALL OVER WITHOUT HAVIN' THEM TYLER TWINS TRAILIN' US!!!

WHAT DO YOU MEAN "WE"? NOW I CAN GO ALL OVER ALONE!! I WAS ONLY GOING WITH YOU TO AVOID HARRY AND LARRY TYLER

ON THE FAMILY TENNIS COURT.

REMEMBER NOW! IF SIS AND ME ARE GONNA PLAY THE THREE OF YOU—YOU CAN'T ALL THREE COME TO THE NET AT THE SAME TIME!

IT'S ALMOST "MIXED TRIPLES"

SOME OF THE MATCHES ON THE FAMILY TENNIS COURT REQUIRE SPECIAL RULES SUCH AS WERE NEVER DREAMED OF BY A NATIONAL RULES COMMITTEE.

I THINK I'LL GIVE 'BILL' THAT FIVE BUCKS I OWE HIM—

WILLIAM

UPWARD WING IS INDICATED FOR THE STOCK MARKET

Price Range Is Firm As Wall Street Hears Railway Control Report

Improving Trade Demand Is Also Factor in Sharp Advances in New York Market.

BY R. L. BARNUM,
Constitution's Financial Correspondent.

New York, August 11.—The attention of the financial district today centered about the meeting of more than 100 railroad presidents held in the board room of the New Haven railroad in the Grand Central Palace. Several informal meetings were held yesterday to discuss the strike situation. This morning, however, a formal meeting was held and a committee was appointed to draft a reply to be sent to President Harding. As the afternoon session at which the reply will be approved will not start until late, no announcement of the decision of the executives is expected during trading hours.

Stock market prices, however, held firm in spite of the absence of any authentic news. There was much speculation regarding the stand to be taken by the executives on Harding's latest plan. Some interests expressed optimism, while others were pessimistic. The street, however, was inclined to agree with those who took a cheerful view of the situation. According to reports received in the street from the meeting uptown there appears to be no change in sentiment from the stand already announced by the railroads. This, however, did not affect the market, for it is believed that government officials have threatened the railroads with federal control, and with this hanging over the executives' heads it is expected that they will be forced to submit to Harding's plan whether they like it or not.

The situation regarding the coal strike is much brighter. Complete agreement, according to advices received here, depends only upon word from several operators. Production has been resumed in some sections and others will follow shortly.

Should it be announced overnight that the railroad strike is on the verge of being settled, it is not readily expected that this will be celebrated in the stock market. Following the first rise a reaction on profit-taking also is to be expected, and when this has run its course, traders believe the market will resume its upward swing.

Rail Equipment Orders.

Orders for new equipment being placed by the larger railroads of the country continue on a large scale and accounts for the strength in the equipment stocks and also explains why American locomotive was not affected by the deficit reports for the first half of the year. The Illinois Central is reported to have placed an order for 65 locomotives to be built by the Lima Locomotive Works, American Locomotive and Baldwin.

In addition, contracts have been placed for 3,000 gondola cars. Many additional orders are pending.

The statement of the American Locomotive for the first half of the year, June 30, was about as expected. Whereas Wall Street expected a deficit of a million dollars for the period the exact deficit was $960,750 against a profit of $3,901,043 in the first half of last year. Directors declared the regular dividends as the company has a large surplus and the outlook for the last half of the year is bright.

Andrew Fletcher, president, says that unfilled orders on the books now are double what they were on June 30. There were no outstanding orders on June 30 and there is in the treasury $24,400,000 cash and marketable securities.

Notice has been received by local bankers, who are making the July Slavic $25,000,000 bonds some time ago; that the government will take back $10,000,000 of the unsold portion of the bonds and return the remainder to the market for their disposal. These bonds are one of several of the issues put out by the new states in central Europe which were not well taken in this market. Representatives of the bankers went abroad some time ago and the above announcement is believed to be the result of their visit.

The United States Industrial Alcohol advanced to a new high record for the year today. The move was accompanied by the reports that the company is now receiving orders for a gallon for its denatured alcohol against a recent low price of 17 cents. It is also said that the Curtis Bay plant is operating at capacity and that institutions have been given for all other plants to operate on full time. The big consumptive demand for denatured alcohol is during the winter months and the company evidently is preparing for this demand.

Strength in International Paper was in connection with the announcement that the company has raised paper prices another $5 a ton for September deliveries. This increase, however, affects only transient and new business and does not apply to regular customers who buy on a contract basis.

The recent advance in St. Paul stocks is due mainly to the operations of one or more pools. Interests connected with the pool take a cheerful view of the outlook. They call attention to the fact that the company is keeping its equipment and right of way in shape. It is predicted that earnings this year will be sufficient to cover the old regular dividend of 7 per cent on the preferred stock and a small balance on the common.

EXPORTS TO EUROPE

DROP OVER BILLION, COMMERCE REPORT

Washington, August 11.—Exports to Europe during the fiscal year ending June 30 were more than $1,000,000,000 below the previous year and with this month's American exports declined more than $800,000,000 the commerce department announced today in foreign trade report.

Exports to Europe during the year aggregated $2,067,000,000 compared with $3,408,000,000 during the previous year. Imports totaled $830,000,000 against $938,000,000 during 1921.

Exports to South America for the year aggregated $191,000,000 compared with $223,000,000 during the previous year. Imports totaled $289,000,000 against $485,000,000 for the fiscal year 1921.

Exports to Europe for the month of June aggregated $188,000,000 compared with $178,000,000 during June, 1921. Imports totaled $70,000,000 against $55,000,000 during June, 1921.

June shipments to South America totaled $21,000,000 as against $17,000,000 in the same month last year. Imports aggregated $29,000,000 compared with $16,000,000 in June, 1921.

NATIONAL FORCES ENTER CORK CITY

Dublin, August 11.—(By the Associated Press.)—It is officially announced that national troops entered Cork Thursday and were given an enthusiastic reception. Seven national troops were killed, many were wounded and some of the troops are missing. It is reported that three men were murdered by irregulars. The retreating irregulars burned six barracks and three bridges. The irregular casualties, according to the official announcement, were six dead and twenty wounded. The national forces are in full possession of the postoffice and the customs houses.

BISHOP CANDLER WILL OFFICIATE AT KILGO FUNERAL

Charlotte, N. C., August 11.—Bishop Candler, of Atlanta, will officiate at the funeral services of Bishop John C. Kilgo, who died at his home in this city this morning at 1:45 o'clock, after a desperate illness of a week. The services will be conducted at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at Hawthorne Lane Methodist church.

An announcement from the home this morning said that Bishop Candler, of Louisville, Ky., and Denry, of Richmond, would probably assist Bishop Candler, a warm, personal friend of the deceased minister. Charlotte Methodist ministers will also participate in the exercises. The pallbearers will be chosen from local citizens who were formerly students under Bishop Kilgo at Trinity college.

Bishop Kilgo's death at the early morning hour followed a noticeable decline that set in at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon and continued until the end. He had been unconscious almost continuously since Saturday night of last week when he was suddenly stricken.

Avoid Politics And Gain Power Legion Is Told

Advising the American legion to stay out of politics and perfect a close organization, and predicting that by so doing the legion would be in a position "to run the country" in a few years, H. V. Hubbs, state service officer of the legion in Florida, addressed the legion's weekly luncheon Friday at the Ansley Park club. Mr. Hubbs, who is a former Georgian, expressed gratification at the promise the legion shows in Atlanta at this time. Owing to late adjournment of the legislature for the noon recess, the ex-service members, who were to have been guests of the legion at the luncheon, were unable to attend. Plans were discussed for several important projects that are now on foot in legion circles, and several notable legion speakers addressed the gathering.

State Commander Rodney S. Cohen, of Augusta, told the members of the legion in Atlanta that he would see that Atlanta got everything that was coming to her, but that everything must come after going out in the field and winning it. Columbus is now somewhat in the saddle in state legion activities and Atlanta is after her scalp, according to legion gossip at the luncheon.

The committee appointed some time ago reported that plans for the big field day to be held at Lakewood park September 16 are about completed. Arrangements have been practically concluded to have General Pershing address the gathering over radio from Washington.

Other features of the gala day will be: A first-class boxing card, a horse show, bathing beauties contest, field meet, and a parade including an automobile race between Johnny Aiken and Bob Linton. On the committee are P. P. Gambell, E. H. Elrod, S. L. Nelson, R. S. Stephens, Fuzzy Woodruff, Evan Howell, Byron Ratton, John Ginn and J. B. Conyers. Proceeds from the field day will go to pay expenses of the Atlanta legion, to get the team lined up. Firing practice will begin on the range of the old national guard grounds behind Fort McPherson. F. L. Nelson, purveyor agent for the Atlanta and West Point railway, announced that fare one way on the special train to New Orleans would cover the return trip.

Reid Elkins, of Columbia, S. C., invited local legionnaires to attend the state convention to be held at Florio August 23. Evan P. Howell, purveyor agent for the legion, in the initiation ceremonies of the 40th Hommes at Chevaux September 2, at which time 40 men will be taken into the secret order of the legion. A delegation of 100 will attend from Columbus.

Announcement was made of the appointment of Evan P. Howell, of Atlanta, as state service officer to succeed Spencer L. Hart, of Augusta, who is now state adjutant. The Atlanta Post No. 1 was host at the luncheon, Commander Fonville McWhorter presiding.

Captain Stockton, commander of Jacksonville, Fla., post, addressed the legion at a meeting in the club rooms at 1412 Marietta street, Friday night. Speeches also were made by Evan P. Howell, commander of Post No. 78; Basil Stockbridge and Fuzzy Woodruff. Captain Commander R. Cobb, Jr., presided at the meeting. This was perhaps the largest gathering of legion men in some months.

CAMP MEETING SERVICES BEGIN AT MOUNT GILEAD

Campmeeting services which have been observed annually for the last 80 years at Mount Gilead, near Ben Hill, will begin at 8 o'clock Saturday evening and last until Thursday, August 17, according to announcement made Friday.

Already fifteen families have pitched tents at the campgrounds and several hundred people are expected to attend the services which, beginning Sunday, will be held four days daily. The hours each day are 9 and 11 o'clock in the morning, and 3 and 7:30 o'clock in the evening.

Rev. W. H. Crawley, pastor of St. Paul's Methodist church, Atlanta, will preach at the 11 o'clock services Sunday morning. Other ministers who will have charge of services during the week are Rev. J. H. Eakes, presiding elder for the Atlanta district; Rev. C. A. Norion, of East Point; Rev. W. O. McCallen, of the Grant Park Methodist church; Rev. W. J. DeBordeleben, pastor of Paine Memorial church, and Rev. N. A. White, pastor of Bonnie Brae Methodist church.

TWO HURT IN WRECK NEAR ANDUILLA, GA.

Brunswick, Ga., August 11.—(Special.)—Trucks were clear for traffic on the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic railroad today after a wrecking crew had cleared away the wreckage caused by a head-on collision Thursday in which a mail employee and the woman passenger were injured. The engine jumped before the collision and escaped injury. Passenger train No. 13, which collided with No. 8 near Andulla, Ga., was three minutes ahead of its schedule, employees said.

ROBERT PARKER HEADS ANSLEY PARK LEAGUE

Plans for an even more active year than has characterized the one just past were formulated at the annual meeting of the Ansley Park Civic league last night. Robert S. Parker was elected president for the coming year, while Dr. S. R. Stone was elected vice president and J. Hope Tigner, secretary and treasurer. Unanimous endorsement of the candidacy of Claus C. Buchanan for alderman from the eighth ward, and the endorsement of James L. Wells to succeed Mr. Buchanan as councilman were features of the meeting. A resolution urging the citizens throughout the city to support Mr. Buchanan because of his record of participation in every progressive movement inaugurated in council was passed unanimously.

Councilman Edgar Watkins, who is retiring from city politics was present and made a report of his activities in behalf of the ward, which was endorsed enthusiastically. A resolution thanking The Constitution for its radio concert which was given Friday night during the meeting, was passed by unanimous vote.

INSANE PATIENTS ARE BEING HELD AT FULTON TOWER

Sheriff J. I. Lowry, of Fulton county, has given up hope of the state legislature "doing anything" this year to relieve the congestion at the state asylum for the insane at Milledgeville.

Eight lunatics, said the sheriff Friday, are now held in the county jail, and according to the same treatment meted out to ordinary prisoners. The sheriff said he would like to allow because of the congestion at the Milledgeville institution.

Every time Sheriff Lowry gets a violently insane person, he exchanges him or her for one of a milder affliction, he says, and that is why the eight are now lodged at the jail. The authorities recently "doubled up" on him he said, returning eight, when he sent six down there.

A great many of the less violent cases, he said, are returned to their families where they can be better cared for until additional facilities are provided at the state institution. One case recently returned to his family was that of an 18-year-old girl. On investigation it developed, he said, that the girl's mother and brother are in the state asylum and after a great deal of difficulty, officials of the institution were induced to let her go back there and join them. No other members of the family are in existence, he added.

NEGRO WHO FLED, AFTER ACCIDENT IN 1921, FINED

Oscar Johnson, negro taxi driver, who on the night of October 22, 1921, drove his automobile upon the sidewalk at Peter and Walker streets, seriously injuring a child, Officer S. H. Hardman, of 105 Park avenue, was Friday afternoon fined $25 and costs by Recorder George E. Johnson under a charge of speeding. According to the testimony of Officer Hardman and others, the negro was attempting to round a curve too fast, the machine skidding upon the sidewalk, knocking Mr. Johnson down and breaking the glass out of the front door of a drug store. Johnson disappeared immediately after the accident and was not apprehended until a few days ago.

FIVE ARE KILLED IN COAL BLAST ON BOARD SHIP

Aboard the Steamship Adriatic, off New England, August 11.—(By Wire.)—The Associated Press.—An explosion on the steamship Adriatic in the reserve coal hatch killed five members of the crew and injured four others.

The explosion, which occurred at 1:30 p. m., was caused by spontaneous combustion.

Not a passenger was killed. Of the five members of the crew killed, one was believed to have been blown overboard.

Money for Closing Forsyth Underpass Two-Thirds Raised

Approximately two-thirds of the necessary amount assessed against property owners for the closing of the Forsyth street underpass, has been raised. The committee of property owners reported Friday to Mayor Key at a meeting in the city hall.

J. R. Smith, chairman of the committee sponsoring the project, appointed two subcommittees, which will call upon objecting property owners and endeavor to obtain their approval. The committee consists of South Forsyth—Robert F. Maddox, chairman; A. D. Greenfield and C. H. Johnson; North Forsyth—Hugh Richardson, chairman; E. M. Herline and R. B. Ransom.

The city has agreed to pay one-half of the amount necessary to close the underpass and widen Fairlie street, it being estimated that the costs will aggregate $132,000. Property owners on Forsyth street will be benefited by this move, it was pointed out. A meeting of the committee has been called for 11 o'clock Tuesday morning in the mayor's office.

Doctor Denies Forcing Woman To Ask Divorce

New York, August 10.—(Special.)—When told of the suit for $30,000 damages brought by J. H. Woolum, of East Point, Ga., against him and his wife, in which it was charged that the doctor administered a "nervine tonic" to Mrs. Woolum and persuaded her to institute divorce proceedings, Dr. W. F. Cross, this afternoon denied any possible foundation for such a suit.

"Yes, I know of Mr. and Mrs. Woolum," he said, "though I have met neither of them. All those who know them of course, feel sorry for them, particularly for Mrs. Woolum. For the past two years or so various of their neighbors, including me, have been greatly undermourned. I should say she was both neurotic and pathetic. I have never attended either Mr. or Mrs. Woolum nor, of course, has my wife. Though it is quite possible she might at some time have given her pill for one of her frequent headaches."

"Woolum has brought other suits against neighbors but they have all been considered as local and there is no earthly reason why my wife should interest herself in their affairs."

Dr. Cross at present is taking a post-graduate course at a lying-in hospital at the corner of Second avenue, at 17th street here.

TRAFFIC OFFICER HAS HAND INJURED BY AUTOMOBILE

Patrolman W. J. Anderson, while directing traffic at the intersection of Peachtree and Linden streets Friday afternoon, suffered injuries to his left hand when an automobile driven by Dr. J. E. Grier, whose office is in the Ashby street pharmacy, struck him while the driver was turning the corner at the street intersection.

The officer was standing in the middle of the street when the car, striking his leg, caused a severe bruise. No case was docketed against the driver.

TWO CHILDREN BITTEN BY SNAKE RECOVERING

Little two-year-old Helen Trammell and her brother, Dan, age 5, children of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Trammell, of 291 Hill street, who were bitten by rattlesnakes Thursday morning, Friday were carried to the Grady hospital for further treatment and later returned home, where they were reported recovering.

The little boy was bitten by the reptile first, and the little girl about 20 minutes afterward. Their father, who is ambulance driver for the Grady hospital, broke speed records to get his children to the hospital from his home.

RAIL COMMISSION POWERS EXTENDED

Against the railroads, and paid into the state treasury and not to the commission direct.

"What difference does that make?" fired Wohlwend. "That's just taking it with one hand and placing it in the other hand. It's about like the difference between saying, 'Come down, Lizzie,' and 'Lizzie, come down.'"

Senator Nix defended the measure declaring that it offered the senate the chance of a life-time and there ought not to be a vote against it. He was followed by Senator Johnny Jones, who announced his belief that the motives and purposes of the bill could not be impugned. "That bill would no more establish any improper connection between the commission and the railroads than there is between the banks and the state banking department, which functions in a similar manner."

Senator Weaver said that, as the owner of a public utility, he favored the bill. "I will speak frankly," he stated, "and say that the railroad commission has always been hampered because it didn't have the funds with which to employ the competent counsel it needed to oppose corporation lawyers."

Water Power Bill. The vote on the water power bill was as follows: For the bill: Senators Akin, Bellah, Boykin, Colson, David, Fleming of the tenth; Ellis, Golucke, Hollingsworth, Hutcheson, Jackson, Lagler, Nix, Peacock, Richards, Ridley, Rountree, Sheffield, Stovall, Thomas, Thorpe, Wall—22.

Against the bill: Senators Bond, Broome, Clark, Colson, Cone, Dawson, Fleming of the eighth, Harrison, Holmes, Jones, Jones of the thirty-seventh, Jones of the sixth, Kinney, Mansson, Palmer, Pate, Snow, Tuley, Taylor, Wheeler, Womble, Wohlwend—22.

Senator Hollingsworth led the fight for the measure. "The Georgia Bill—Water and Power company," said Mr. Hollingsworth, "is the only corporation in Georgia that is fighting the bill. It is a greedy corporation, making big profits and seeking to block the public interests in order to fatten the coffers of its stockholders. This company is seeking to dominate the development of all water power in Georgia, and to deny the people the right even to express themselves."

Other vigorous speeches urging passage of the measure were made by Senators Jackson, Lassiter and Golucke. The county commissioners' bill by Senator Ellis provides a uniform county commissioners' law for such counties as may require a commission form of government, with a county manager as the chief executive officer, but leaves the plan optional with the counties to decide by referendum.

After defeat of the Golucke-Clark bill limiting local tax levies by counties to 15 mills, Senator Golucke gave notice of a motion to reconsider.

Pharmacy Bill. By unanimous vote, at the afternoon session, a bill by Senator Ridley was passed designed to raise the standard of the pharmacy profession in Georgia.

Beginning January 1, 1924, applicants for license as registered pharmacists must not be less than 21 years of age and shall have had at least four years practical experience in a retail drug store under supervision of a registered pharmacist, or such applicants must be graduates of a school or college of pharmacy recognized by the Georgia board of pharmacy.

An amendment offered by Senator David to strike the section giving the Georgia Pharmaceutical association the right to nominate members of the Georgia Board of Pharmacy, was adopted.

One of the important bills scheduled to be taken up in the senate next week is the biennial sessions bill. A

Plans for Widening Peters Street Discussed At City Hall Meeting

Plans to widen Peters street from Forsyth to Park streets, making it an 80-foot thoroughfare and increasing the traffic facilities, were discussed in the city hall Friday by a special citizens' committee representing the Peters Street Improvement club, together with Aldermen Ragsdale, of the tenth, and Davis of the seventh wards.

The committee plans to enlist the cooperation of property owners on Peters street and have blueprints made, showing the frontage to be taken from each lot, according to George West, chairman.

Recently city council appropriated the sum of $500 for a survey of Peters street with a view of widening it as promulgated by the Peters Street Improvement club. The results of this survey were completed this week by the construction department of the city and show the street as now laid out to measure between 50 and 55 feet, some places being wider than others.

"The object of the Peters Street Improvement club," declared Mr. West, "is to increase the efficiency of that thoroughfare and make it one of the most traversable boulevards in the city. Not only will it improve West End and that section but the entire city will be benefited by widening this thoroughfare."

"Heretofore Peters street and West End have been regarded as a suburb and very little has been done to beautify and help that section come into its own. We intend to see that this is done and Atlanta will be proud of Peters street when it is finished."

THE GUMPS.

CHESTER, I NEED SOME MONEY. COULD YOU LOAN ME SOME FOR ABOUT 30 DAYS? I'LL GIVE YOU GOOD SECURITY AND 6% INTEREST-

HOW MUCH DO YOU WANT AND HOW DO YOU WANT IT? CURRENCY OR COIN?

CHESTER BIM GUMP

SIDNEY SMITH

CHESTER TO DATE HAS EARNED $1.02 - WHATEVER HE EARN HIS FATHER GIVES HIM DOUBLE THE AMOUNT SO HE NOW HAS $3.06 - HE STILL NEEDS $67.94 FOR THE PONY-

COME CHESTER- YOU'VE GOT TO TAKE THIS CASTOR OIL- IT'S GOOD FOR YOU- IT WON'T HURT YOU-

I DON'T WANT THAT- NO GEE!! THE SMELL OF IT MAKES ME SICK-

WELL- YOU'VE GOT TO TAKE IT CHESTER- IT WILL BE ALL OVER IN A MINUTE AND YOU WON'T MIND IT- IF YOU WON'T TAKE IT FOR ME I'LL CALL YOUR FATHER AND YOU KNOW WHAT HE'LL DO-

I DON'T WANT THAT AWFUL STUFF- IT WILL MAKE ME SICKER THAN I AM NOW-

ANDY- WILL YOU MAKE HIM TAKE THIS CASTOR OIL? HE WON'T TAKE IT FOR ME-

NOW HERE CHESTER- I WANT YOU TO STOP MAKING THIS NOISE AND FUSS - YOU'D THINK YOUR FATHER AND MOTHER WERE ASKING YOU TO TAKE SOMETHING TERRIBLE- WE WOULDN'T GIVE IT TO YOU IF IT WASN'T GOOD FOR YOU-

I CAN'T TAKE IT- I'LL SPIT IT UP- IT WON'T STAY DOWN-

YOU MIGHT JUST AS WELL STOP MAKING THIS FUSS- IT ISN'T GOING TO DO YOU A BIT OF GOOD- YOU'RE GOING TO TAKE THIS IF I HAVE TO FORCE IT DOWN YOU-

I CAN'T TAKE IT PAPA- I HATE IT-

COME ON NOW CHESTER- BE A LITTLE MAN- TAKE THIS FOR DADDY- I'LL GIVE YOU A DOLLAR IF YOU DO- AND YOU CAN PUT IT IN YOUR BANK AND IT WON'T BE LONG BEFORE YOU HAVE THAT PONY-

OH! IT MAKES ME SICK-

YOU WANT THE PONY DON'T YOU? HOW ARE YOU EVER GOING TO GET IT IF YOU DON'T EARN THE MONEY? THINK OF IT- A WHOLE DOLLAR FOR JUST A SECOND- THE PRESIDENT DOESN'T EARN MONEY THAT FAST-

JUST THINK OF THAT PAY, CHESTER- SHUT YOUR EYES AND YOU WON'T EVEN TASTE IT-

I CAN'T SWALLOW IT-

YOU CAN HAVE ONLY ONE SPOONFUL NOW- DON'T TEASE ME FOR ANY MORE- DON'T GRAB FOR IT- I'LL GIVE IT TO YOU-

I HATE IT-

COME ON NOW CHESTER- WE'LL GET YOU NICE RED WHEELS ON THE CART AND PUT YOUR MONOGRAM ON IT TOO- C. G.- THINK OF IT-

TAKE IT NOW- TAKE IT!

JUST THINK OF THE NICE RIDES YOU WILL HAVE- YOU CAN TAKE MAMA OUT EVERY DAY- WON'T THAT BE FUN CHESTER? COME ON NOW- SWALLOW IT-

THAT'S THE WAY- ONE BIG ROUND DOLLAR- SWALLOW IT

THERE HE IS- THE LITTLE MAN- SWALLOW IT NOW- LOOK AT HIM DADDY- LOOK AT HIM TAKE IT- THAT'S OUR LITTLE SOLDIER-

NOW- THAT WASN'T SO BAD WAS IT? THAT WAS EASY-

NOW- THINK HOW RICH YOU ARE- YOU EARNED A DOLLAR-

NOW AREN'T YOU ASHAMED OF YOURSELF? ALL THE FUSS YOU MADE! LOOK AT THE BIG DOLLAR YOU'RE EARNING- I'D LIKE TO HAVE SOMEBODY OFFER ME A DOLLAR TO TAKE A SPOONFUL OF CASTOR OIL- LISTEN TO IT WHEN I DROP IT INTO THE BANK-

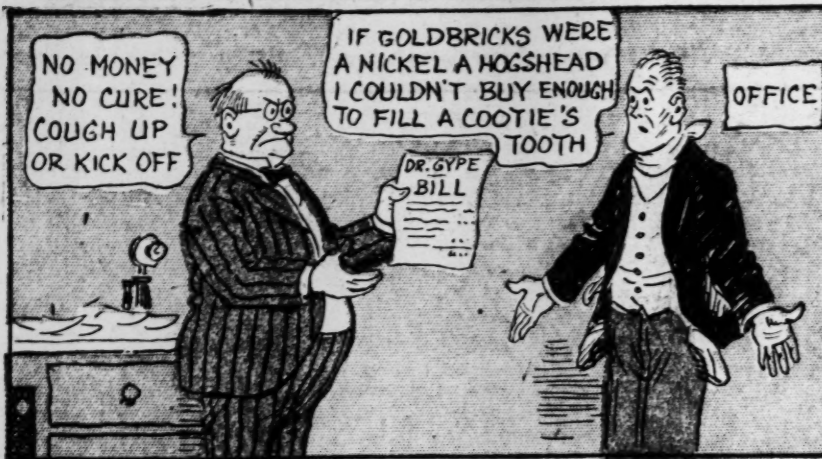

NOW AREN'T YOU PROUD?

YOU HAVE TO GIVE ME TWO MORE DOLLARS NOW DADDY- I EARNED THAT DOLLAR AND YOU TOLD ME YOU'D GIVE ME DOUBLE OF ANYTHING I EARNED

THAT'S RIGHT- HE OWES YOU TWO MORE DOLLARS-

LISTEN TO THE LITTLE FOX- NEXT TIME YOU'LL ONLY GET A QUARTER FOR TAKING IT-

ALL CHESTER NEEDS TO GET THE PONY IS $67.94

SLY SAYINGS
BY

A FELLER IN A LUNATIC ASYLUM LOOKED UP AT TH' CLOCK AND SAID TO ANOTHER LUNATIC, "IS THAT CLOCK RIGHT?" THE OTHER NUT SAID "NOPE IF IT WAS RIGHT IT WOULDN'T BE HERE."
